HOST ARRIVING FOR CONVENTION

GIRL FLIER TO START PLANE FLIGHT ACROSS OCEAN

Ruth Elder Is Ready To Make Daring Flight

Announces This Morning That Flight Will Start This Afternoon

WEATHER REPORTS SEEM FAVORABLE

Plane Is Prepared For Trip; Girl And Pilot Eager For Trip

(International News Service)

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Ruth Elder, beautiful young aviatrix, announced today that she would take off this afternoon for Paris in her plane, "American Girl".

Weather maps which showed improved conditions over the Atlantic, were carefully studied before the decision to hop off today was made. All preparations were being made for the start. Necessary provisions were loaded into the fuselage of the plane and the gasoline tanks filled.

Well Prepared

In addition to the main tanks, the plane carried 140 gallons of gasoline in auxiliary tanks of five gallons capacity each, which are stored in the back of the cabin. As the main tanks are emptied, this auxiliary supply will be poured into the main tanks and the small containers dropped overboard.

The proposed route will take the plane over Old Orchard, Maine.

Just before noon Captain Haldeman stepped into the cabin of the plane and taxied it across the field to the runway. The brilliant orange paint on the machine sparkled in the sunlight. The plane had been fully loaded.

The Stinson-Detroiter in which Miss Elder and her co-pilot will cast their lots in a gamble that has claimed more than a dozen lives this year—trans-oceanic flying—is a duplicate of the ill-fated Sir John Carling which came to disaster somewhere in the Atlantic, the Royal Windsor which abandoned a trans-Atlantic flight after two attempts and the Pride of Detroit, the round-the-world plane.

For weeks the weather had been adverse to a take-off from New York, but clearing reports during the past few days brought the decision this

McKeesport Man Shot And Killed

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 11.—Another victim of the underworld warfare lay in the county morgue here today, following the shooting of Frank Frisaura, 38, within sight of his home at McKeesport, last night.

Frisaura was killed as an automobile drove past him. A riot gun was shoved through the side curtains of the car. Frisaura fell with more than twenty wounds on his body.

Police expressed the belief that Frisaura was another victim of a bootleggers feud, or gang warfare that has claimed the lives of a number of men in the Pittsburgh district in recent weeks.

Belgium Celebrates Birth Of Princess

(International News Service)

BRUSSELS, Oct. 11.—Princess Astrid, wife of the Belgian Crown Prince Leopold, gave birth to a daughter today at 8 a. m.

It was announced that the new princess will be christened Josephine Charlotte. Her Godmother will be the Grand Duchess of Luxembourg and Albert, King of the Belgians, will be her Godfather.

For 15 days the royal infant will occupy the "royal cradle," which belonged to her grandfather. After that another will be provided.

All the city was decorated with flags, and the streets were filled with holiday crowds, recalling the wedding of Leopold and Astrid. A salvo of 21 guns proclaimed the birth of a princess.

There was a provisional baptism ceremony at noon in the presence of Queen Elizabeth, Countess de Robiano Prince Charles and a lady in waiting representing the Grand Duchess of Luxembourg.

Although the royal child was born at 8 o'clock, the chancellor of the royal palace did not announce the event until an hour and three-quarters later.

The date of the christening ceremonies was not definitely set today.

Since the day she came from her native Sweden to marry the Belgian prince, Astrid had endeared herself to the populace of her adopted country. Her marriage to Leopold was looked upon as a real love-match and caused rejoicing in both countries.

Likely To Have State Library Convention In New Castle In 1928

Confident that they will bring the 1928 convention of the Pennsylvania Library Association to New Castle, Miss Alice M. Sterling, librarian of the New Castle public library and Clarence Patterson, a member of the legislative board of the state association, will leave for Harrisburg Wednesday morning where they will attend the meeting of the association.

Alice R. Eaton, who is president of the state association, in a letter to Miss Sterling, sets forth high hopes that the convention will be held in New Castle next year.

"I think that it is very probable that your invitation to meet in New Castle in 1928 will be accepted", Miss Eaton declares. "The association wants to hold their next meeting in western Pennsylvania, and New Castle and The Castleton sound very attractive."

In connection with the convention in Harrisburg this year there will be a book auction, to which libraries bring duplicate copies of books. Then they are auctioned to other libraries that do not have these books. The money is used to secure scholarships for girls to attend the summer library courses at the Pennsylvania State College.

Louis Bromfield, author of The Green Bay Tree and A Good Woman, will be the principal speaker at this year's convention.

Mrs. Lilliendahl Appears Nervous; Paces Jail Cell

Wife Of Slain Doctor Furiously Paces Cell And Declares Her Innocence

ASSERTS FAILURE TO CATCH SLAYERS

Willis Beach Resigned To Fate, Still Smiling; Explanation Partly Exploded

(International News Service)

MAYS LANDING, N. J., Oct. 11.—Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl held without bail in the Atlantic county jail here pending her trial with Willis Beach on November 28 for the murder of Mrs. Lilliendahl's late husband, Dr. William Lilliendahl paced her cell furiously today as she asserted her innocence.

Beach, who with Mrs. Lilliendahl pleaded not guilty, was quieter—still smiling, but not joking.

It's An Outrage

"It's an outrage," screamed Mrs. Lilliendahl. "The authorities haven't made any real effort to get the murderers. Instead they've taken the easiest path and tried to hang it all on two innocent persons."

Mrs. Lilliendahl had paced the floor of her cell for hours. She is the only white woman in the jail. She does not want visitors, and has not expressed any desire to see Alfred, her 8 year old son, who is now with relatives in Bridgeport, Conn., unaware of his mother's imprisonment.

Explodes Part of Story

Richard Black, special investigator, reported to Chief of County Detectives Frank Harrold that he had exploded at least part of Mrs. Lilliendahl's explanation of what she was doing in the lonely Atsion road at the time of the murder. Mrs. Lillienrahl had told the authorities, it was said, that she was going to visit a Rev. Mr. Green in Indian Mill, a nearby village. Black said he had learned there was no such person as Rev. Green living in or near Indian Mill.

Detective Harrold had been away since Friday night. He was asked di-

Hidden "Cache" Causes Flareup In Remus Case

Report $1,800,000 Hidden In Safe Deposit Box By Remus And Wife

CORONER'S INQUEST SCHEDULED TODAY

Remus Claims That Contents Of Deposit Box Will Be Means Of Freeing Him

(International News Service)

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 11.—"So Franklin Dodge and my wife were not in collusion," challenged George L. Remus from his cell in the Hamilton county jail today.

"Discovered right in his home town—the cache," was the comment of the former bootleg king as he anxiously awaited the return of George L. Connors, his secretary, who discovered the supposed hiding place of the Remus fortune at Lansing, Mich., yesterday.

"There should be $1,800,000 worth of stocks, bonds and warehouse certificates in that vault but Dodge only knows how much is left," said Remus when told of the discovery.

"However, it is not the contents of the vault that is important to me, but to prove that they visited the vault together.

"George Remus will defend George Remus. I am now George Remus the lawyer, not George Remus the bootlegger," declared George L. Remus, former bootleg king, in his cell at the Hamilton county jail.

"In this little green box I call my 'liberty box' I have my freedom," he declared, exhibiting a small security lock-box filled with legal looking documents photostatic copies of letters, other papers and notes.

Fighting for Life.

"This little liberty box has a good chance of becoming as famous as the black bag in the Teapot Dome scandal.

"George Remus is not a squealer, but George Remus is fighting for his life.

"I undoubtedly will have to use many of these documents to prove my charges."

Friends and relatives are attempting to influence Remus to engage counsel, but the former Chicago law-

No Air Race Says Mrs. Grayson On Atlantic Flight

Will Not Race Ruth Elder, Florida Girl, Says Woman Aviatrix In Planning Hop

(International News Service)

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Maine, Oct. 11.—Mrs. Frances W. Grayson, New York to Copenhagen flyer, made it plain today that there would be no race across the Atlantic with Ruth Elder. The Florida aviatrix in her "American Girl" was expected here today from New York.

Mrs. Grayson spent the forenoon arranging for the refueling of her plane "Dawn." Several test flights will be made. On these depends the decision whether "Dawn" will take off this week or be further delayed. The weather charts showed a forecast of bad weather over the Atlantic.

Invitation to christen the ship was made to Mrs. Ralph O. Brewster, wife of Maine's governor.

Mrs. Grayson was confident that the motor of "Dawn" would prove trustworthy and that the hop to Copenhagen would be made this fall. With her will go pilot Wilmer Stultz and navigator Brice Goldsborough.

Government To Conclude Fight In "Oil Scandal"

Set In Motion Half Dozen Actions To Write "Finis" To Famous Squabble

CRIMINAL ACTIONS STILL UNSETTLED

Government Circles Buzz With Discussion As Supreme Court Hands Down Decision

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—With the navy's great oil reserves finally restored to it by the supreme court's decision in the Teapot Dome case, government counsel and officials today set in motion a half dozen actions designed to write the final chapters in the famous "oil scandals" of the Harding administration.

These steps include:

1. Government counsel made final preparations for criminal trial of Ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair on charges of defrauding the government in the Teapot Dome case in district supreme court on October 17.

2. The government prepared to move the end of the Teapot Dome receivership in the federal court of Wyoming and to receive an accounting from Sinclair's mammoth oil company for oil taken from Teapot Dome before a receiver was named.

3. Final steps were expected to be taken in district supreme court for the appeal of Harry F. Sinclair from conviction by a jury on charges of contempt of the Senate in refusing to answer questions of the Walsh "oil scandal" committee.

4. Navy Department may ask federal court in Wyoming to close down Teapot Dome wells without waiting until legal formalities accompanying the supreme court's decision are com-

White Way On Falls Street

New Lighting System On Street Leading To The Castleton

Curb lights installed recently in Falls street between North Mill and North Jefferson streets were illuminated last night and presented a beautiful appearance.

The new light annex consists of 11 six hundred candle-power lights and ornamental brackets and within a few weeks lights will be installed in North Mercer street.

The installation of the lights was occasioned by a conference of The Castleton and city officials and the P-O Electric Company installed the Falls street system with dispatch.

The net cost to the city will be $565 a year, four pendant lights having been removed after the poles had been set back during widening of Falls street.

Kiwanis Delegates Gather At York For Annual Convention

State Kiwanis Convention Opens Annual Sessions At York, Pa.

(International News Service)

YORK, Pa., Oct. 11.—More than one thousand members of Kiwanis Clubs from 125 Pennsylvania communities were in York today for the opening session of the state Kiwanis convention.

In the golf tournament which preceded the general sessions of the convention yesterday, the governor's cup was won by U. L. Crawford, of Tyrone, Pa., while John G. Hulton, of Latrobe, won the lieutenant governor's cup.

Concensus of opinion among Kiwanis delegations here today was that Uniontown stands an excellent chance of winning the 1928 Kiwanis convention. Delegates from the Western Pennsylvania city are losing no opportunity to boost for Uniontown.

Mayor E. S. Hugentugler, and Judge Henry C. Niles, welcomed the delegates in behalf of the city at today's session.

Attorney Brown Back From Europe

Attorney Orville M. Brown, local delegate to the American Legion convention held recently in Paris, France is back in New Castle again.

PRESIDENT P. L. CRAIG IS FIRST TO REGISTER AT STATE CONVENTION

All Plans Are Complete For Epochal State Sabbath School Gathering

First Sessions Wednesday Morning In Cathedral Auditorium

From Philadelphia and Easton, from Bedford and Wilkes-Barre, from every corner of this great state of Pennsylvania, New Castle is receiving visitors today, delegates to the 65th annual Pennsylvania State Sabbath school convention which opens Wednesday morning in the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

Every train inbound from the east is disgorging delegates and the highways leading into the city see automobiles filled with men and women who are New Castle bound.

Greatest Convention.

It will be the greatest convention of its kind ever held in the state, according to the prognostications of the men and women back of it. The state executive officers expect it to be, Percy L. Craig, state president, is sure it will be, and the committee members of this city are determined to bear out the prophecies.

No convention here in years, perhaps no previous convention held here approached the present convention in size. Every county in the state will have delegates here and it is a remarkable opportunity for New Castle to really demonstrate to the state at large just what a city we have.

Every hotel in the city is expected to be filled to capacity and hundreds of homes have been opened to receive guests. By noon Wednesday the convention will be well on its way.

Craig First to Register.

Percy L. Craig, president of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School association, was the first delegate to register at the 65th annual convention at the cathedral. The last delegate to register will in all probability have No. 3,500, as this promises to be the biggest and best Sabbath school convention in the state of Pennsylvania, or any other state, province or country, for that matter.

New Castle has displayed her hospitality in an unusual manner as entertainment has been provided for 2,700 delegates. In this connection it it well to explain to the entertaining homes just the plans to be used in assigning delegates. After the delegates register they will be asked if entertainment is required. If it is they are passed on to the assignment committee where the cost of their entertainment will be collected and they will be given a card to be left in the home provided for them. This card serves as an introduction and after it is signed by the delegate stating the amount of entertainment received, is left in the home. After the convention and for a certain period these cards may be cashed at the Home Trust company. Many will wish to

Mother Throws Son Out Of Window; Leaps After Him

Double Tragedy Occurs In New York City During Morning

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Grief-torn over the death of her mother, Mrs. Minna Rosenbaum, 27, pushed her six year old son to his death from the bathroom window of her fifth floor apartment today and then leaped out after him according to police.

Mrs. Rosenbaum suffered probably fatal injuries. The boy, Samuel Jr., was killed instantly when his head struck the pavement.

This is the second attempt at suicide Mrs. Rosenbaum has made in he last 48 hours. Yesterday she attempted to hang herself from a clothes drying rack in the kitchen, but her husband found her in time to save her life.

The woman was arrested on a homicide charge in the hospital but her life is despaired of.

The baseball bat has been wrapped in wool and laid away for a while, and other sports with other names for the next few months are in style. The football player in gruesome clothes will beguile us till Thanksgiving Day and then like baseball he leaves the scene, and for other sports makes way. The hockey club and the boxing glove will be dragged from their hiding place and the sporting editors large and small will be giving them plenty of space. But the winter will fly and the spring will come and baseball will soon be back and we'll hear the thud of a wide tossed ball, and the bat with its swish and crack, but the season is over for several months and the baseballs are laid away, and we'll pay attention to other sports, its seventy-eight today.

BIG NOVENA AT ST. VITUS

Annual Novena Is Inaugurated This Evening Lasts Nine Weeks

Annual big novena of the year at St. Vitus church started today and there will be a special service this evening and for nine consecutive Tuesday evenings until the close of the novena, which will occur on December 8, the Feast of the Immaculate Conception.

The novena, which is special devotions ot St. Anthony and the Immaculate Conception, is attracting hundreds of worshipers not only from this city but also from the surrounding districts.

It is especially helpful to those persons who are sick or suffering from distress of mind due to questions that develop in their lives and those making the devotions do so in the hope of securing needed health or help in their time of distress through the devotions in which they participate.

In past years there have been numerous instances where people have received great help. One of the features of the novena is the privilege of kissing the relic of St. Anthony, which the church possesses. The devotions are held through special privileges granted to this church by the pope.

The Tuesday evening services will be held at 7:45 o'clock on these evenings and the Rev. Fr. Patrick Di Ranna, assistant pastor of the church, will on these evenings deliver special sermons on the life of St. Anthony.

There will also be the privilege of kissing the relic of St. Anthony on each of these evenings.

HIDDEN "CACHE" CAUSES FLAREUP IN REMUS CASE

yer is insistent that he will defend himself.

Ramola Remus, his daughter, is outwardly worried about her father's prospects if he defends himself. "The public and jury may construe my father's actions as theatrics," was her comment prior to her departure for Chicago last night. "I do hope he changes his mind."

Inquest Today.

It was expected that Remus would have his first inning as his own lawyer at the inquest scheduled today. This was blocked, however, by Coroner Fred C. Swing, when he announced that he would not permit Remus to be present at the inquiry.

"I am only calling the essential witnesses to prove the cause of death of Mrs. Remus," declared Coroner Swing. Neither Remus nor his adopted daughter will be present. Only Mrs. Remus' cab driver, the police and such other witnesses who saw the fatal shooting at Eden Park last Thursday.

Remus, when told that he would not be permitted to testify, said he had planned to waive examination as he had at the police court hearing last Friday and refuse to testify.

A ban was placed on the wholesale visit of persons, mostly curiosity seekers, who called to see Remus at the jail. This was done at the request of Remus on whom the strain of being confined is beginning to tell.

Miss Ruth Remus and her grandmother, Mrs. Brown, returned from Chicago last night where they had buried Mrs. Imogene Remus in the Rose Hill cemetery.

Up to Remus.

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 11.—The next move in the controversy over the contents of a safety deposit box said to have been rented in the American State bank here by Mrs. Imogene Holmes Remus, is up to her husband, George Remus, "king of the bootleggers," who is held in Cincinnati charged with his wife's murder, officials of the bank said today.

LANSING, Migh., Oct. 11.—Ridiculing the report that Mrs. Imogene Holmes Remus had cached $1,800,000 in a local bank, as reported from Cincinnati, Franklin Dodge today declared that George Remus killed Mrs. Remus because of money and for no other reason.

Remus tried to have his wife sign a settlement agreement under which Remus would have obtained a divorce, Dodge said, but the bootlegger would have obtained practically all of their property, most of which was in Mrs. Remus' name.

PRESIDENT P. L. CRAIG IS FIRST TO REGISTER FOR STATE CONVENTION

contribute their entertainment, however, and in such cases the money will go to take care of the expenses of the convention as there will in all probability be a deficit.

There is one matter that those signing up for delegates should keep in mind, that all of the homes will not receive delegates. As so much entertainment has been provided and since nearby counties in many cases will drive over in the morning and back in the evening, there may not be enough delegates to go around. If this is the case the committee would not wish the entertaining homes to feel like one woman who was solicited to entertain delegates.

"Indeed I will not," she said. "A year or two ago there was a small convention held in New Castle and I agreed to take two delegates. After I cleaned up the house and got all ready for them, they did not show up."

In this connection the entertainment committee wishes those who have offered to entertain delegates not to go to too much trouble and also not to feel disappointed if there is not enough delegates to supply every home offered.

State Officials Gratified.

Walter E. Myers, general secretary of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School association, and B. A. McGarvey, field worker, are here and are very much gratified by the preliminary work of the committee chairmen and their committees.

The assignment committee met and had a rehearsal at the convention lobby last evening and at noon today the registration committee held a rehearsal in preparation for taking care of delegates this afternon and evening. Lawrence county delegates are advised that they can register this afternoon and evening and receive their convention envelopes which will contain the official badge, Wanamaker book, song book, hand book, etc. Lawrence county delegates will then be ready to attend the opening sessions without any delay whatever.

Quite a number have inquired whether or not other Sabbath school workers, members and the public at large would be admitted without being a registered delegate. The registered delegates will be taken care of first and for the morning and evening general sessions they will occupy a large part of the auditorium. However, after the registered delegates are seated, others will be admitted. It might be well to state that in the afternoon there will be conferences at a number of the churches so there will be more room at that time for those not being registered delegates, than at any other time. It would be a good plan for those who are not delegates to plan to attend the afternoon sessions at the cathedral.

Then, too, on Thursday evening there will be an overflow meeting at the First Methodist church which will be addressed by one of the best speakers of the convention, and there will also be a meeting at the First Presbyterian church. Other overflow meetings may be arranged for if needed. The plan of those in charge of the convention is to give as many people as possible an opportunity to be present and gain inspiration and instruction. However, our visiting registered delegates must be taken care of first.

Locke Beats His Own Corn Record

He now has a cornstalk which is sixteen feet in height, which is a remarkable height for a cornstalk to reach in this section of the country.

GOVERNMENT TO CONCLUDE FIGHT IN "OIL SCANDAL"

plied with. Secretary Wilbur reiterated the navy's policy of conserving oil in the ground.

5. Atlee Pomerene, government special counsel, announced that an early trial of Fall and Edward L. Doheny, oil magnate, on bribery charges growing out of the Elk Hills, Calif., lease, would be sought.

6. Navy Department officials announced that they were considering a request to Congress for authority to trade part of the Elk Hills reserve to private oil companies in order to make the government reserve a solid block and prevent possibility of drainage.

Actions Unsettled

With criminal actions still unsettled, the government today was $32,000,000 richer as the result of the action of Fall in leasing the Elk Hills and Teapot Dome navy oil reserves to the Doheny and Sinclair companies.

The government received $24,000,000 in cash from the Elk Hills operations while in Doheny's hands, together with oil storage tanks built at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, Sinclairs' mammoth oil company, navy officials estimated, would lose $8,000,000 on the Teapot Dome lease.

With the restoration of the reserves the navy now has enough oil in the ground to last it 125 years on a peacetime basis, it was said. Revised estimates have shown 720,000,000 barrels of oil in the Elk Hills reserve. The estimated production of Teapot Dome originally placed at 30,000,000 barrels, may be increased as a result of the discovery of a third oil bearing sand in this area, officials said.

Government circles buzzed with discussion over the probable effect of the supreme court's decision of yesterday on the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy trial next week. It was pointed out that the supreme court last year held Edward L. Doheny and Fall guilty of defrauding the government in the Elk Hills lease after a jury in district supreme court had found them not guilty. In this instance the supreme court's decision finding Fall and Sinclair guilty of fraud precedes the trial of a criminal case embodying the same charges which the government made in the lease cancellation civil suit.

Report Steamer Nearly Sinking

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

SAN PEDRO Cal., Oct. 11.—With a graping hole in her side and her engine and fire rooms flooded, the coastwise steamer Kekoske, southbound from Oakland to Los Angeles, was reported to be in a precarious condition, as the result of being rammed by the steamer Pomona at 5:30 a. m., off Point Arguello, 137 miles north of Los Angeles, according to messages picked up by the United States Naval Compass station on Point Fermin.

There were no casualties among the crews, it was reported.

Congress is getting ready to convene and probably the first thing they'll do is attack Coolidge's foreign policy. We hardly can wait to find out what it is.

A hidden source of hearing is the New Acousticon

No longer need the people whose hearing is subnormal swallow their pride.

For now comes a NEW and finer Acousticon . . . the Silver Anniversary Model . . . developed after 25 years of service to the deafened . . . to free them from all embarrassment.

It is the smallest, the lightest, the least conspicuous of all hearing-aids, with a new and tiny "full-tone" receiver, or earpiece, with a visible surface no bigger than a dime, that is worn in the ear without any attachment.

We would be pleased to demonstrate, FREE, this New Acousticon, and to point out, in detail, the many new principles that make it just as efficient as it is inconspicuous.

Able Message

Rev. Knowlin of Uniontown, Pa., who is assisting Rev. W. W. Nelson in conducting revival services in the Second Baptist church, preached a strong sermon Monday evening on "The Churches Greatest Need." He emphasized that power was the principal need of many of the churches today.

This evening he will preach on "A Jazzy Night in Babylon."

Membership in a women's club organized recently in London is confined exclusively to the unbobbed.

If seeing is believing, men should have implicit faith in women these days.

Capitol Theatre Offers Program Of Real Merit

Three good acts of vaudeville and a picture that holds the interest is difficult to build always but the management of the Capitol Theatre has done that thing for the first three days of this week.

The picture is particularly pleasing. Not overdrawn, not overplayed, but a portrayal of the battle of two "tanktown" performers to get into Broadway lights, and how they succeeded. Lois Wilson plays the lead role in a typical Wilsonian manner and is well supported by a splendid cast.

E. J. Moore, a trickster offers some slight of hand that is interesting and ends his act with the trick known as Tears of Buddha in which he apparently extracts beans from his eyes.

Marion and Jerry Ross have a crossfire patter act built of wise cracks and smart sayings and Omar Hebert's Revue closes the bill. The latter act is an instrumental and dancing act and is a whirl of syncopation. The bill closes Wednesday night.

Peculiar Animal Caught In Field

Armadillo Caught On Corn Field Along Harlansburg Road

Throngs of people were busy all morning at the window of the C. Ed. Smith Hardware company store on East Washington street, viewing the strange animal captured by Dewitt Gormley in the corn patch of Wesley Gormley, his father, who resides on the Harlansburg road.

The strange animal was eating corn, when discovered and captured. The animal has been found to be an Armadillo, a native of the warm climate of Mexico and other far southern countries.

It has a hard shell covering on its body, which is in the nature of armor plate to it, protecting it from its enemies. It can and does draw its head into the shell when the occasion demands it. It can run and jump with ease and great speed.

How this strange animal of the tropical clime came to be stealing its food in the corn patch of the Gormley farm is not known. It is thought possible that it may have been at the New Castle Fair and escaped from its owner at that time.

Mattress Afire In Long Avenue Home

City firemen were last night called to the home of Irwin Williams in the A. Lasky property, 227 West Long avenue, last night at 8 o'clock by an alarm from box 55.

The firemen on their arrival found a mattress of a bed in the second floor of the building on fire. The blaze was confined to the mattress. The loss was about $10.

The family was not at home. It is believed that the fire was occassioned by children hunting in the bedroom for something and striking a match to light the gas light. The match or possibly the mantle of the gas fixture fell on the bed setting on fire the mattress.

Making treasury notes smaller won't help much. What we need is a way to make promissory notes smaller.

If he is a tyrant to his children he is a yes-man trying to win back his sense of importance.

FOOTBALL

CRITICS of modern college football picture it as an organized and commercialized spectacle.

They even complain that the cheering sections are organized and lack that desired amateurish spontaneity.

Few will deny that college football today is a "big business," with some teams collecting as much as $300,000 in gate receipts in one short season and with corps of high salaried coaches and trainers and large squads of subsidized players, but after all the commercialism found in football is something different from that associated with professional baseball.

It may be traditions, it may be the players and it may be a difference in those who fill the gridiron stands and those who fill the baseball bleachers, but compared with baseball the sport of football is decidedly unprofessional and uncommercialized.

The football player who excells under its present stage of development must have physical endurance and strength and mental alertness. Both are splendid qualities for the business of making a living out of sportdom. No better evidence that football is played to the king's taste today could be found than the fact that never was the sport as popular as now, never was it better played and never did it so strongly compete with baseball for the coveted title of the Great American Game.

ACCIDENT TOLL OF RECKLESS MOTORISTS

THE sessions of the National Safety Council at Chicago properly contrasted the agitation over the loss of a few score lives of aviators with the public apathy over the stupendous toll of deaths, injuries and property damage in automobile accidents.

"Automobiles are killing more people daily than were killed by airplanes all summer," said Charles A. Harnett, State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles of New York. "It is estimated that more than 22,000 lives will be taken and a property damage of $700,000,000 ensue before the close of 1927."

If the reckless drivers of automobiles merely killed or injured themselves and the passengers of their cars there might be some justification for public inaction, since, in the natural course of events, the evil would eliminate itself. But for every reckless motorist who suffers in the wreckage of his own car there are dozens of innocent victims—pedestrians, particularly children and aged persons, struck down without a chance to defend themselves, and carful drivers of automobiles who are unable to avoid a crash.

Legal penalties probably are sufficiently severe in most states, but the means of evading them are manifold and in constant and scandalous use. Imprisonment is exceptional even when the reckless motorist has destroyed human life. Most of us have sensed the "get-out-of-the-way" attitude that seems to seize upon the least worthy among humans when they reach the driver's seat of an automobile and honk their horns imperiously to make their fellow mortals clear a path for them by scurrying to the sidewalks.

When you meet one of these, fellow citizens, you have met one of the potential killers who will figure in the motor murder statistics of the years to come.

PERMANENT FLOOD CONTROL

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE is not in the habit of making rash statements. It may be taken for granted, therefore, that he knew precisely what he was talking about when, during his recent address to the Red Cross convention, he said:

"We propose to solve the problem of flood control so that such a situation may never again have to be met."

It is a tremendous proposition which the government's engineers and those of the Mississippi Valley associations have had to consider. Their plans are not yet ready for report. When they are they will be submitted to congress, since appropriations to carry them out will be required. But so far as the public has information, there have been no serious differences of opinion. Levees must be built in accordance with a unified policy—levees both higher and wider.

But these will not of themselves do the business. Spillways to care for what might be termed superfloods would seem to be essential. Whether the engineers have decided that certain kinks in the river should be straightened out has not been disclosed, but there are dangerous bends which surely could be disposed of with gratifying results.

It is evident that the president still sees no necessity for calling a special session of congress, since he tells the Red Cross representatives that there are enough funds on hand, thanks to the activities of their organization, to meet all requirements until January. Relief cases are well in hand. Actual construction by way of defense against future menace is the main issue now.

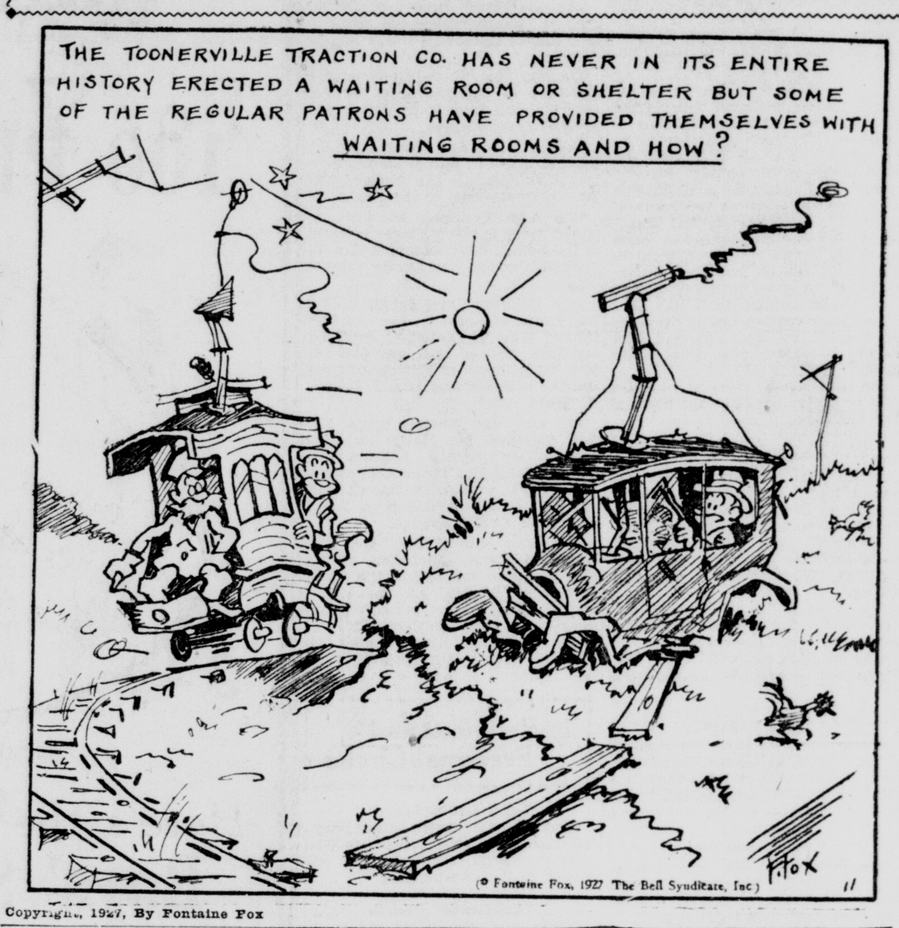

The Mississippi River interests have long been looking to the commercial possibilities. These have been taken into consideration by the engineers, for the president informs the Red Cross—and through it the public in general—that in the solution of the problem of flood control "we shall advance our system of inland waterways."

The Mississippi may never have a deep channel for ocean ships. Indeed, the idea itself is preposterous. But it can be assured transportation by barge with proper control of its waters.

In Day's News

Dr. William Cuno, who is mentioned for the post of German ambassador to the United States, served as German chancellor during a critical period in the early days of the republic. As general manager of the Hamburg-American Lines, he has become widely known both inside and outside Germany. He was born in Thuringia in 1876 and was educated at Berlin and Heidelberg universities. For a number of years he practiced law in Berlin. During the World War he was an economic and financial adviser to the German government. Several years ago he visited the United States to confer with American shipping interests. Although not a man of brilliant intellect or extraordinary talents, Dr. Cuno has a high degree of personal charm and a personality that has won him many friends.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:27. Sun rises tomorrow 6:08.

One of the great reasons why there is so little decency in politics is because so many decent people do not put any decency into it.

Why is it that every prize fighter keeps on insisting he is a gentleman?

We notice a ruling by the prohibition director forbidding the use of gin for sacramental purposes. No doubt there will be opposition to this also from some quarters.

A bird at Johnstown, Pa., was arrested for striking his sweetheart, a telephone operator, during a quarrel. It seems to us a telephone operator has troubles enough without being swiped on the jaw by a sweetheart.

It's all right for you to hold your head high, but do not elevate it so much that you cannot see fellow humans passing by.

We heard a lot of birds talking their stuff during the world's series last week. One bimbo knew the history of nine ball players from their cradle to the day the club lost the series, but he did nt know the name of one of the Twelve diciples.

Where there is cigaret smoke there must be some fire, so they call it flaming youth.

Most every day we notice items in newspapers to the effect that people who have been picked up by autoists and hurt while guests in their cars, were suing the owners of said cars for big damages. It is getting so now that wise men do not pick up people who are standing waiting for a street car and incidentally for an easy mark to pick up in his machine.

We are going to tell you of a combination hard to beat when found under the hide of one person—incompetency and dishonesty!

A candidate for president of Mexico was arrested and shot because he opposed the government candidate. While this may seem mighty severe to a lot of upright mollycoddles who have a say in matters political, it is however, a very effective method of getting discipline established in government. Just think of the hangings and shootings we would have in this country if we had such a system.

After all the organ pumper isn't the least important member of the choir.

Remember we are all set to make New Castle stand out to all the delegates attending the Pennsylvania Sunday school convention in this city this week. People judge a city by the kind of people there are in it and what they do. Do your part!

Next to a pug dog about the most friendly thing in the world is an October fly.

You do not have to be a Sunday school scholar in order to be of service during the convention this week. If you are a good citizen you will do all you can to help the great Sunday school cause along in making it pleasant for those who carry on the good work for you. It doesn't matter who or what you are, you are expected to help make New Castle a pleasant place for visitors.

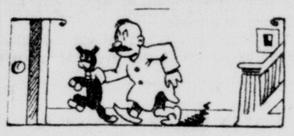

It is reported that the owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates is willing to sell the ball team. After seeing them play in the world's series we would not give much for the outfit. We do not want an interest in anything that will disorganize the ordinary routine of human affairs.

A headline says, naming a prominent actress, "Is off on first leg of a two months' visit to U. S." Is that nice in speaking of a lady? Shouldn't we say limb—I ask you?

We noticed an item in a newspaper where there was a protest being made against the singing of "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," at funerals. It is asserted that it is vulgar inane and other things. We never were strong for singing at funerals anyhow. When we attend a funeral it is always of some one near and dear to us and we do not need any sentimental warbling to fill us up to overflowing.

A man in Maryland confessed that he bought his wife from his nephew for five hundred dollars. Of course he is in deep trouble.

You'd never discover a lot of men were liars if they'd refuse to take the witness stand in their own behalf.

Eventually there will be a machine for almost everything except to put out the cat.

When a fellow gets hurt the first thing he does is to notify his insurance company. Misery likes company—an insurance company.

Years ago people used to think the seeds of grapes caused appendicitis. Now that folks have gotten so they drink their grapes they should worry.

An authority says that it costs this country millions of dollars each year by the taking of goods from stores on approval, thus delaying the sale of such goods. No doubt the goods are not helped much when taken out on approval and worn for a few functions before they are returned to the store. We think that approval stuff is bad and we have an idea that if men and women took one another on approval for a few days before getting married there would be little marrying. Cut out the on approval stuff.

One of the things that the kids cannot understand is that every time dad comes home good natured mother is sorest at him.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

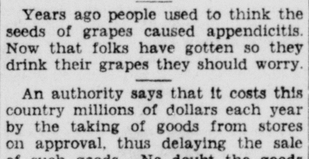

A very deaf old lady, walking along the street, saw an Italian turning a peanut roaster. She stood still looking at it awhile, shook her head and said:

"No I shan't give you any money for such music as that. I can't hear any of the tunes and besides it smells as if there were something burning inside."

The New York Times chronicles a quarter of a century's history in 10 slogans:

"Cross of Gold."
"Full Dinner Pail."
"Cuba Libre."
"Remember the Maine."
"My Policies,"
"Watchful Waiting."
"Over the Top."
"Make the World Safe for Democracy."
"Back to Normalcy."

To which we humbly crave to add by inserting between "Watchful Waiting" and "Over the Top" that other magic formula, "He Kept Us Out of War."

Another objection to talking about the weather is that profanity is vulgar.

Woman shoots at husband six times; misses each time—headline. "If at first you don't succeed," madam, "try, try again."

A deaf man has this advantage; he doesn't hear a lot of foolishness.

Russell Scott, Chicago's famous prisoner, who has been sentenced to hang, and three or four times reprieved just as he was about to begin the death march, hung himself in his cell on Sunday. That saved the state a job and he was hanged, too. Whether it is polite to say so or not, it is good riddance.

A good many people who yapped around about the baseball teams playing so many games for what money they can get for themselves and the club owners are silenced this morning. Even to their evil minds no team is going to sell out to lose four straights but Pittsburgh lost them.

Personally, we're glad that the world series is over. Football is crowding in so much now that two kinds of ball games at one time are too hard to handle.

George Clemenceau, the famous Tiger of France, is reported to have eaten cold ham and pickles on his 86th birthday. Some of these days before long now we can expect to see half page ads on these particular items as foods.

A woman of some prominence told restaurant owners that the can opener was the chief ally of divorce. We always thought that men carried their rolls in their socks, but it seems as though we were mistaken—the tin can seems to be the favorite back.

A short time ago we were called upon to investigate the flour situation and were amazed to discover that grocers sell very little flour any more. The retailers buy it a few sacks at a time and we were informed that one of the wholesale houses of the city no longer handles it. So great has the inroads baker's bread has made that few people bake any more. And we like the good old-fashioned home-made bread better than anything we know of.

Seventy-five pigs stolen from Indiana farmer—headline. Well, don't we teach our young men that success in life is a matter of "bringing home the bacon."

Isn't it rather remarkable that not a single Senator, Governor or Congressman has yet been born in Blowville, Ohio.

The Nevada man who has a bullet-proof head may contemplate matrimony without the slightest trepidation.

An Illinois woman who poisoned her husband was acquitted by the jury. The 12 good men and true were probably lost in admiration at the artistic way in which she did the job.

Tunney says that his name is pronounced to rhyme with funny, but there is no joke in this for Jack Dempsey or other heavyweights.

There are a good many people, and some of them here, who beef their heads off if a good show comes to town and asks $3.30 or $2.20 for the best seats, but they'll pay $44 to see two toughs hammer each other or $15 for a $5 seat at a ball game and call themselves sports. Such is life.

A European physician announces that he has found a way to create super-men. Now the welcoming committee in the big cities will have a job on their hands when these supermen come around.

We know about synthetic gin—it's quite unbearable; but this new play—"Synthetic Sin"—that must be terrible!

A Yale professor says the earth's population will be 100 per cent thicker in 50 years. Still, it's just like these highbrows to take a gloomy view of the future.

A New York barber charged a customer $2.75 for a shave and removing one blackhead. That looks to us more like a trim.

It isn't surprising to learn that the women spend so much more on their toilettes than the government does on its warships. The women, as a matter of fact, are always better prepared for war than the government is.

A noted physician says one-fifth of the people are feeble-minded, and now you know how many disagree with you.

Monkey Super-Men.
This Is Fire Week.
The Richest Don't Shoot.
Industry and Science.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1927, By N. Y. American, Inc.

Professor Voronoff has made old men seem younger with the help of monkey glands, has made science take him seriously.

Now he proposes to create supermen, such as Nietzsche dreamed of, by using animal glands on young children of exceptional talent. He believes that he will create genius such as earth never saw, in the children of children thus treated. The old-fashioned will believe that if monkeys could help create finer men, nature and wise providence would have called on the monkeys long ago.

Also a race of super-men is just what the world does NOT want. Tall men like short women, thin women admire fat men, genius marries mediocrity, all proof that nature wants us to march along side by side about even, not a few far ahead of the others, or riding on the backs of inferiors.

This is fire prevention week. Fire destroys more than five hundred million of property yearly. Carelessness with matches, cigarets, imperfect electric wiring, etc., causes more than $300,000,000 of the loss. That amount, which could be saved, would pay the cost of our national building program, power, irrigation, canals from lakes to ocean and Mississippi flood control, in a few years.

Laws should discourage carelessness. Imprisonment for life with no credit for good behavior nonsense, should punish incendiarism. Property owners insure for full value, or more, and then neglect fire precautions.

Proof of such neglect sought out by paid officials should cancel insurance automatically, and keep it canceled for three to five years. If that happened, fewer tenement house fires would happen. The landlord would sit up.

Premier Baldwin says Britain and America will never fight. They may not always agree, but they will thresh out differences, or differ like friends and gentlemen. It's a safe prediction, for various reasons. If Britain and America fought, that hideous stupidity would put the world back 500 years, and financially speaking, ruin both countries.

In addition, Britain and America have all they want and more than they want. Why should they fight? Ford, Rockefeller, Baker, Mellon are the four richest men in the world.

Can you imagine them going after each other with automatics, mustard bombs, etc? They compete, fight hard for business and just a few more hundreds of millions, to make the game amusing. But they don't shoot.

Great industries, not content with gigantic production, work constantly to produce better methods, of which the public gets the benefit. Standard Oil spends on research work, producing no immediate profit, more money every year than Mr. Rockefeller had when he was already considered a very rich man.

The tube works department of United States Steel, making annually thousands of miles of steel and iron pipe for every conceivable purpose, spends large sums on the fight against erosion, studying, testing methods for protecting iron against rust and destruction by chemicals in the ground.

It costs millions to renew pipe lines for the great oil companies every year. Find a way to protect iron from rust as copper protects itself and you will save for this country enough to pay the national debt in 20 years.

The Du Pont de Nemours company, which leads in important chemical research, announces discovery of a new chemical called "poezone" that protects rubber from deterioration through exposure to air.

Rubber loses its elasticity, becoming brittle and worthless because of oxygen's effect upon the rubber.

First the chemists proved that oxygen really does the damage. Now they announce a chemical discovery, an anti-oxidant" that will make all rubber, from tires to toy balloons and overshoes last longer. A slight addition to the rubber of a "negative catalyst substance" gives results that will save millions. In the last 27 years men have learned more about chemistry than they had learned before, in all their hundreds of thousands of years on earth. There is no limit to knowledge, it is only beginning.

In Germany, sentiment against capital punishment is strong. One hundred legal specialists sign a petition asking the Reichstag to legislate against "the futile cruelty" of taking human life. Murderers in Germany are beheaded, in the old style, by hand, not by machine, as in France.

If the headsman, with axe or sword disgusts intelligent Germans, how much more should Americans be ashamed of their electric chair with science doing the hangman's work?

A nation intelligent enough to harness lightning should be too decent to use it killing miserable, often mentally irresponsible human beings.

Mexican government airplanes are bombing scattered bands of revolutionists, as you read this, and Calles and Obregon announce that the "revolt" is crushed.

When Mr. Taft was running for a second term, and doubt of his election was expressed, a well educated Mexican asked "is not President Taft head of your army and navy and if so what is to prevent his reelection?"

It is not easy for creatures on the ground to fight against others in the air. Rabbits attacked by hawks made that discovery long ago. Rebels fighting Spain and France made the discovery recently in Morroco. The American government will make the discovery some day. Then it will take aviation seriously, stop building battleships that would have to hide from flyers in war.

Ther's nothin' wrong about aspirin' t' serve th' people, but in Indianny where they perspire fer office it's a serious matter.

I often wonder if farmers give town folks credit fer all th' rain an' heat they tolerate jest 'cause it's good fer th' corn?

Dr. Crane's Editorial

THE BAIL EVIL

There has been a good deal of stir recently in several cities about the bail nuisance.

A man is arrested. It may be that he is not at all guilty of the alleged crime and to keep from going to jail he has to furnish bail.

There is a swarm of bail dealers in the proximity of most police stations who make a business of bailing the accused people out for a consideration. If the bail is set, for instance, at $1,000, they will furnish it, but they must get $100, or ten per cent.

I have heard it said that if a man jumps his bail it makes no difference. The court authorities and the bail men seem to be in league and the bail is forfeited.

These bail furnishers seem to have an extraordinary standing with the court officials. These officials will take their word for anything and also accept their bond.

A friend of mine was arrested recently for carrying liquor. It was on Sunday morning. I went down to the jail to furnish him bail and took along a property owner, as I was informed that a man to sign the bond must be a property owner.

The clerk at the jail informed me that he could not accept a bond from a property owner, but he had to have cash. The banks were all closed on Sunday and neither of us happened to have the cash handy, so the clerk informed us we could go to one of these bond brokers and get the amount of bail for $1,000 by a payment of $100. We didn't do it. My friend, however, did it himself and was bailed out on paying $100 to the broker.

Just why this clerk should refuse the bond of a property owner and why he was willing to accept the bond from a bail broker I cannot say.

The whole system is rotten.

An Australian in this country recently said they did things differently there. Cash bail is not acceptable. A man must be a property owner to furnish bail. In this way the bail broker is eliminated.

The bail broker is an evil institution, furnishing abundant opportunity for police graft and preying upon innocent people.

Bible Thought For Today

OUR HELP:—Our help is in the name of the Lord, who made heaven and earth. Psalm 124:8.

PRAYER:—O Lord, let Thy hand help me for I have chosen Thy precepts.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE GOLFER'S PRAYER

There is a retired officer of the United States Marines living in San Diego who plays a very good game of golf, but no army mule driver could at any time in his lurid career equal the quality of the profanity used by the Colonel on the golf course when his game goes wrong. The Colonel likewise has a very powerful voice. Its carrying quality is so great that upon such occasions nearly every person playing on his home course is acquainted with the fact that the Colonel is having an off day. When he misses a very short putt, it is the Greenkeeper's fault, or the fault of the Greens Committee for not keeping the course in more perfect condition.

The Thirteenth Green on his home course is the green located at the furthest point from the Club House. In a very close match recently the Colonel missed the three-foot putt on this Green. The language that followed was so remarkable that a wag thereafter posted the following in the Clubhouse:

"When Colonel Hinkle missed a three-foot putt on the 13th Green he gently remarked, so gently that the ladies on the club veranda could not get all the words:

'Our Father, which art in Heaven, do not, I beseech you, condemn to everlasting torment the greenskeeper and all his minions, the chairman of the greens committee and all his fellow members, the president of the club and all the directors and their families. It was not all their fault, Heavenly Father, that I missed the putt. Be merciful to them. Maybe a caddie moved, or the shadow of a lark's wing disconcerted me. We know, dear Heavenly Father, You and I, that it was not Our fault. But there is so much imperfection outside of Us. We must try to be patient. You will try, won't You, Father? Thank You'."

TO A NEW GOLF BALL

Little ball, so new and white,
Will you be so fair tonight?

Will you like your brothers be,
Bruised and battered by a tree?

Shall I cut you to the core
As I've done so oft before?

As I've done with all your kin
Shall I break your lovely skin?

Little ball upon the tee,
What will be your history?

Now together here we start,
But I wonder shall we part?

Will you still be with me, when
Evening brings me home again?

Or shall I leave you behind
For some other man to find?

Many a player keeps the line
With a ball which once was mine.

Little golf ball, new and white,
Will you be so fair tonight?

The man who cannot make up his mind.

MY TOWNS—BAYONNE

It takes money to make a city modern and progressive and outstanding. Good schools, good water, good policing, good sewage disposal and good pavements cost enormous sums of public money in an American city.

The money has to be got out of taxes. Somebody must pay the taxes. High enough taxes to make everything first class become burdensome if all the taxation falls upon moderately circumstanced individuals, small grocers and struggling manufacturers.

A city really needs at least one large, rich corporation to help pay the taxes. Preferably a corporation that occupies much ground and has very large real and personal property interests.

Bayonne is in New Jersey, separated from Staten Island, New York, by a narrow stream called Kill von Kull. It occupies part of the New York harbor waterfront. It has frontage on Newark bay. It is only a few minutes from the heart of New York by electric train.

Bayonne is a very superior town. It has one of the best school systems in the vicinity of the metropolis. People who live with their families in Bayonne could not afford to move over to New York. The children would miss the school advantages of the New Jersey town.

Almost all the essential public activities and services in Bayonne are tip-top. Citizens of this remarkable town have so little to complain about that they are practically unfitted for life in the average American city, where citizens often find their chief happiness in complaining about the water, police, fire department, ice, milk, pavements, parks, zoos and sewers.

The Standard Oil company has an enormous plant in Bayonne. As you pass through the fields of oil tanks there, you are amazed that a town so far from any oil field can have such a far-flung array of storage tanks. These tanks get their oil from pipe lines that run to oil fields all over the continent, I am told. Probably it is cheaper to transport the oil by pipeline than to haul it in tank cars. Of course, the oil must get to the ocean-side somehow, since so much of it, refined and unrefined, must be exported.

As you view the refineries and tank farms, you realize whence comes some of the tax money. And Bayonne has many other rich sources of income. No wonder it's such a well-groomed city!

Final Meeting Of Committees

All Plans Are Completed For Convention Monday

READY TO TAKE CARE OF DELEGATES

With every committee represented, final arrangements for the opening of the 65th Annual Convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School association were made Monday evening in the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

So enthusiastic was the response to the final committee meeting that the lobby of the Cathedral was crowded with men and women, every one of whom was ready to go to work at a moment's notice. They are convinced that this convention must be put over properly and nothing will be left undone to accomplish that end.

Delegate Envelope

Under the supervision of Thomas A. Gilkey, forty women were busy Monday afternoon in the cathedral, filling the delegate's envelopes. As each one registers they will be handed an envelope containing the following.

An official badge which admits the bearer to all sessions of the convention. A souvenir program containing the annual report of the directors, the program of the convention, and the recommendations that are to be considered by the convention.

A coupon for the Pennsylvania Herald. This coupon entitles the signer to a year's subscription to the Herald. A book of songs which will be used during the convention. A note book, a map of New Castle, showing the important points that will be used by the convention. A statement concerning the program for the coming year. ENGLAND'S LOVELIEST STAGE STAR

Many expert judges consider Miss Maud Cessall, London stage star, to be the loveliest actress in all England. Her histrionic powers are said to be in keeping with her beauty.

CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS

Probably the first sign of welcome to the delegates to the 65th annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School association was noticed at about 10 o'clock this morning hanging on the door of the Y. M. C. A. Another like sign appeared in a window of the building.

As delegates continue to pour into The Castleton, workmen are rushing frantically about, fitting up the lobby so that it will be in the best of condition to receive them. In the lobby stand divans, velvet covered chairs, vases and many pieces of wrought iron.

The desk has been fixed temporarily and keys for the rooms are hanging in their respective pigeon holes.

Bell boys like Nubians at the court of a king, guard every entrance to the hotel and a double guard seems to have been posted at the entrance to the stairways and elevators.

Facing Falls street there has been a store room set aside for the delegates to have conferences in and even this morning it was in use when the heads of the state association met.

Percy L. Craig attended the first conference held this morning and after it was over, he stepped out into the lobby and congratulated Mr. Hawes of the American Hotels corporation on the fine building that had been erected and the efforts which were being made to entertain the delegates.

A thing of beauty may annoy forever.

Forty Three Aged Women Are On Waiting List At Almira Home At Present

Forty-three aged women are on the waiting list of the Almira Home for aged women and several are pleading, pleading for shelter for this winter.

Forty-three women have rooms in the home at the present time.

Thirty-six years ago the Almira Home was instituted through the prayers and consistant efforts of a mere handful of women. Originating in the mind of Almira P. Martin from whom the home received its name, Mrs. H. E. Butler was the principal to whom credit for the inception of the home is due.

By soliciting from house to house for funds and showing the actual need of such a home, sufficient money and interest was raised to start a tangible movement. In 1893 the house of Capt. D. C. Irish was purchased and under the ceaseless and tireless efforts of this same group of women the Almira Home opened its doors to its first aged and homeless .From that time on without interruption it has been a home with all the comforts that it has been possible to provide for many women.

Visitors are always welcome at the home which is located at 1001 East Washington street. The city of New Castle may well be proud of this beautiful home caring so well for aged and homeless women.

New Castle may also do well by supporting and subscribing liberally to the Community Chest of which the Almira Home is a worthy part, declares Herbert Peairs director of the drive.

Officers of the association are:

Officers and Board of directors: President Emeritus, Mrs. J. Ward Reis; president, Mrs. J. L. Stratton; vice president, Mrs. Roy Hazen; recording secretary, Mrs. B. F. PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

THE GREAT TERROR

For all Peter was quite used to the all-of-a-sudden ways of the little folk, he was not quite prepared for the lightning change that followed his words.

In the twinkling of an eye Mrs. Rabbit changed from a cross Bunny into the kindest hearted of creatures. She hopped closer and patted his hand with one soft little paw.

"Poor little Two-Legs! You were running away from the Terror of the Woods. There were no faces in the shadows at all—not a face; but you were tired and lonely and frightened, and you thought there were.

"I know just how you felt. I have jumped through the leaves many and many a time, leaping so hard to get away from some dreadful thing I thought was on my trail that I thought my heart would burst right through my side.

"Nor am I the only animal that flees from the nameless things.

"All the dwellers of the field and forest have their moments of fear, when they run away from nothing at all. One may as well be caught in a trap as to be scared to death.

"There, there, there! Nothing can hurt you now. To think I never guessed and have been calling you an uninvited guest.

"Why, I have been downright rude to you, and you didn't come here to poke your nose into my affairs at all. You just stumbled into the Rabbit Hole. Suppose my Sunny-Bunny had blundered into some stranger's home and had been treated as I have treated you. I am so ashamed of myself! Will you forgive a worried mother, Two-Legs?"

Mrs. Rabbit looked pleadingly at Peter, who hastened to say, politely:

"Don't say another word about it, Mrs. Rabbit. Of course, you didn't know what tricks I might have been up to. I don't blame you for being provoked at finding me at your very threshold. But why are you worried? And who is Sunny-Bunny? And why were you looking for him in the cabbage patch?"

Next—"Sunny-Bunny, Run-away."

Ingathering Day To Be Held Oct. 21

Mercer Children's Home To Get Fruit And Vegetables

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 11.—The annual in-gathering day for the children's home here will be held on October 21, it is stated today by the committee of the Ladies Aid society of Mercer county, who have charge of the home, dependent for its subsistence entirely on the charity of Mercer county people.

This date has been held each fall. Its purpose is to provide an opportunity for the farmers and others of the county with gardens to give vegetables to the home out of their plenty.

Canned fruit, money, clothing, in fact anything to eat or wear will be a welcome gift on this date. It has been customary in the past for the various communities to contest each other in bringing in the largest truck load.

Continuaunce of this friendly spirit of rivalry this year will find no objection here. It should be remembered that the garden party of this year due to rain was a disappointment to the ladies in securing funds.

New Castle Legionnaire Gives Some Impressions Of His Visit To France

(By ORVILLE J. BROWN)

PARIS, France, Sept. 25.—The 1927 Legion Convention is over, not only officially, but actually, as the great mapority have left the city.

It will be impossible for anyone to report everything that has happened here. The program has ranged from receptions by the President of France and grand balls down to reunions of two and three comrades of war days in private homes.

In its biggest aspect, however, this convention has been of international import and has been the means of cementing friendly relations between France and America in a manner hardly thought possible. The fact that nothing was left undone by the French government or people to insure the Legionnaires enjoying Paris completely is probably the reason for this. Everything was a beau geste, no matter how large or small the affair.

The most signal honor was the opening of the Arc de Triumphe for the Legion parade. It was the third time people had marched through the arc and we were the first civilians to be accorded this honor.

The "Grand Bal des Allies" was held in the National Opera House, ten thousand being in attendance. It is hard to conceive of such a large affair and such a fashionable one. Ten orchestras played in the various ball rooms, corridors, etc., the pit of the theater being used for a dance floor with all the boxes occupied by French and American dignitaries. We never saw so many evening clothes at any one time and probably no one ever has. Even the soldiery on guard were in its highest state dress, on entrance everyone passing through lines of guards with drawn sabre. Admission tickets were issued by the French Government with official seal.

The dinner by the French Veterans in honor of American Legionnaires at The Invalides was attended by four thousand and reminded us of the Chamber of Commerce Dinner in the Cathedral at home except it was larger and menu differed in one respect. This was not a government affair, it being given by the French organization which corresponds to our Legion.

Two days airplane exhibitions were given at La Bourget, admission tickets being given by the French War Department and the best French aviators taking part. Such flying demonstrations are beyond words as the feats of French flyers are the last word in exhibition flying.

Incidentally, a tablet at La Bourget now marks the spot where Lindbergh landed.

Events such as these and receptions of the President of France, Marshal Foch, General Pershing, Commander Savage, State delegation dances, parades, teas, receptions and banquets have all been attended by both French and Americans and have gone a long way in creating an understanding between the two peoples. During the war such opportunities as these were not presented as there were other things to be done then.

It has been notable that Legionnaires are treated well everywhere, especially by those countries engaged in the war, whether allies or enemies. Italy, owing to the harshness of the laws of the regime caused feeling in individual cases but as a whole is like the rest. Germany is especially fine, their treatment being better than could be expected and it being evident that no ill feeling exists. It is certainly a fact that individuals do not make war.

The best receptions to Americans of all, however, are in the parts of France where American troops participated in the war. Children unborn when the armistice was signed line the highways and wave American flags and shout friendly greetings to Americans. This is what we found at Chateau Thierry, Mons St. Pere, Soissons, and other places. We were also in Bellau Woods where some New Castle boys fought and which is now American soil. Here is located the Aisne-Marne Cemetery where 2268 Americans are buried.

All along the front cemeteries are to be found, some with troops of all nations, French, Italian, English, German and Belgian. Italian crosses are green, English, French, American and Belgian white and German black. The final resting places except American and English are all kept up by the French, the German as well as their own. One cemetery has 33,000 graves.

The stores of Paris have in many cases given discounts to Legionnaires and in almost every conceivable way, courtesy such as was not expected has been shown. We were admitted to the Casino at Monte Carlo for half admission fees. The fact that Americans deserve a lot of consideration here is evidenced, however, not only by our participation in the war, but by efforts of Americans in restoring devastated France. Whole villages have been restored partly or wholly by American financial help. The Cathedral at Rheims is being done entirely by Mr. Rockefeller with the exception of a few thousand dollars contributed by American school children. At Soissons, Miss Anne Morgan of New York and her committee are restoring the cathedral. It will be remembered that Miss Morgan gave tea dances, begged, promoted prize fights, and did most everything else to raise this money for the devastated areas of Northern France.

Three American agencies have worked long and faithfully to assist Americans here for the convention. They are the Salvation Army, Knights of Columbus and the Red Cross. Each had huts and functioned as in war times. Too much cannot be said for their enterprise and thoughtfulness.

Will close this now. These are not only personal impressions and experiences, as attempt has been made to give the general reactions in all cases.

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

WHO MADE THE WAR?

President Von Hindenburg makes a speech in which he formally declares that Germany was not responsible for the World war. He says the extreme measure was only resorted to as a measure of self preservation when Germany was surrounded by a "host of enemies." He suggests an impartial court in which his country can prove her innocence.

All this is not very important now. As the years go on it makes little difference who started the war. The chief concern of the best brains in all nations is to prevent another. When international conditions reach a certain stage prevention of war is impossible. Prevention must begin a long time before, with the building up of an enlightened public opinion.

THE LUCKY ROD

John Hertz, who made yellow taxicabs famous, and also made millions, used to be a newsboy. Later he was a delivery wagon driver and an office boy. In his boyhood he sold his text books and ran away from school. His father gave him a good whipping. "Dad certainly spanked me hard," he said, "but I deserved it."

That licking boosted John Hertz into a new ambition to go far. He looks back at it as the real turning point in his early life. Punishments are not pleasant at any stage of the game. Coming at the right time they may prove to be the one thing needful.

WORSE THAN ALCOHOL

Dean Inge, of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, says: "The most important of the social evils in England are betting and gambling. They have a more potent influence in ruining a man than alcohol, which ruins only a few."

The unluckiest thing that can happen to a young man is to be lucky in his early gambling. He gets the idea he can get something for nothing. It takes years of hard and unhappy experience to find out that it can't be done.

LOOKING AHEAD

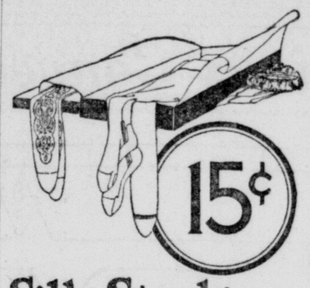

Giving money for the purpose of doing something for the next generation shows more good sense than the effort to take care of people who have reached their maturity in this generation. When William H. Luden, wealthy candy maker of Pennsylvania, arranged to give a bonus to the head of every family who will keep his children in school above the age of fourteen, he was looking ahead. Most children stop school too early because their parents need their earnings. The rich man with vision does something for youth.

"SHEIK"

Sometimes we build up a whole tradition on a wrong word or an inaccurate definition. For example the word "sheik" in Arabic, means "an old man."

Two Philadelphia Men Are Wounded

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—Five men in a speeding automobile opened fire with sawed-off shotguns on two men at Second and Spruce streets here early today, seriously wounding them.

Both men fell to the sidewalk where they were picked up by a passing motorist and taken to Jefferson hospital.

The men gave their names as Augustine Strand, 34, and Benjamin Shifrin, 30, both of this city.

Refusal of the men to talk of the shooting led police to believe it was another renewal of a gangsters' feud.

Fur Industry Shows Increase

American Woman Responsible For Elevation Of Industry

UNITED STATES ASSUMES LEAD

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The American woman is primarily responsible for elevating the fur industry of United States to a foremost position in world commerce.

For winter, summer, ball room or sports wear complete fur outfits or fur-trimmed garments are increasing in popularity until the output of the industry for 1927 is estimated at nearly $300,000,000.

Figures announced today by the commerce department show that even in the production of raw pelts the United States has passed Russia and Canada, heretofore leaders in world markets. Estimates place this year's production of raw furs in United States and Alaska at over $70,000,000, double that of Russia and compared to $15,000,000 for Canada.

In addition to the domestic output fur manufacturers called on foreign sources for imports valued at $110,000,000 last year, and $95,600,000 for the first eight months of 1927, indicating another heavy increase.

With the fur-seal industry centering in Alaska, a department survey disclosed that the Mississippi basin is a territory of rapidly increasing fur production. An ideal section for wild life, with plenty of water, cover and food, millions of dollars in profit is finding its way to the pockets of the Mississippi valley trappers and fur farmers.

"Last year's development in fur farming was extensive," declared T. J. Biggins, of the Commerce Department Textile Division.

"Fox farming has become a well established industry. Practically all of the black and silver foxes used in the United States, are raised on American farms.

"Regulated trapping of muskrats on privately owned marshes or muskrat farming, is being widely and profitably practiced. Rabbit raising for meat and pelts is gaining a strong foothold in the west."

Statistics furnished by the Fur Dressers and Dyers Association showed that in 1926 members of the association handled 37,814,000 skins, ranging from ermine to squirrel and o'possum.

Coney and rabbit furs imported for the first eight months of the year numbered over 80,000,000, while imports of fox, other than black and silver, were valued at $11,631,000.

School nurse says all girls should know this

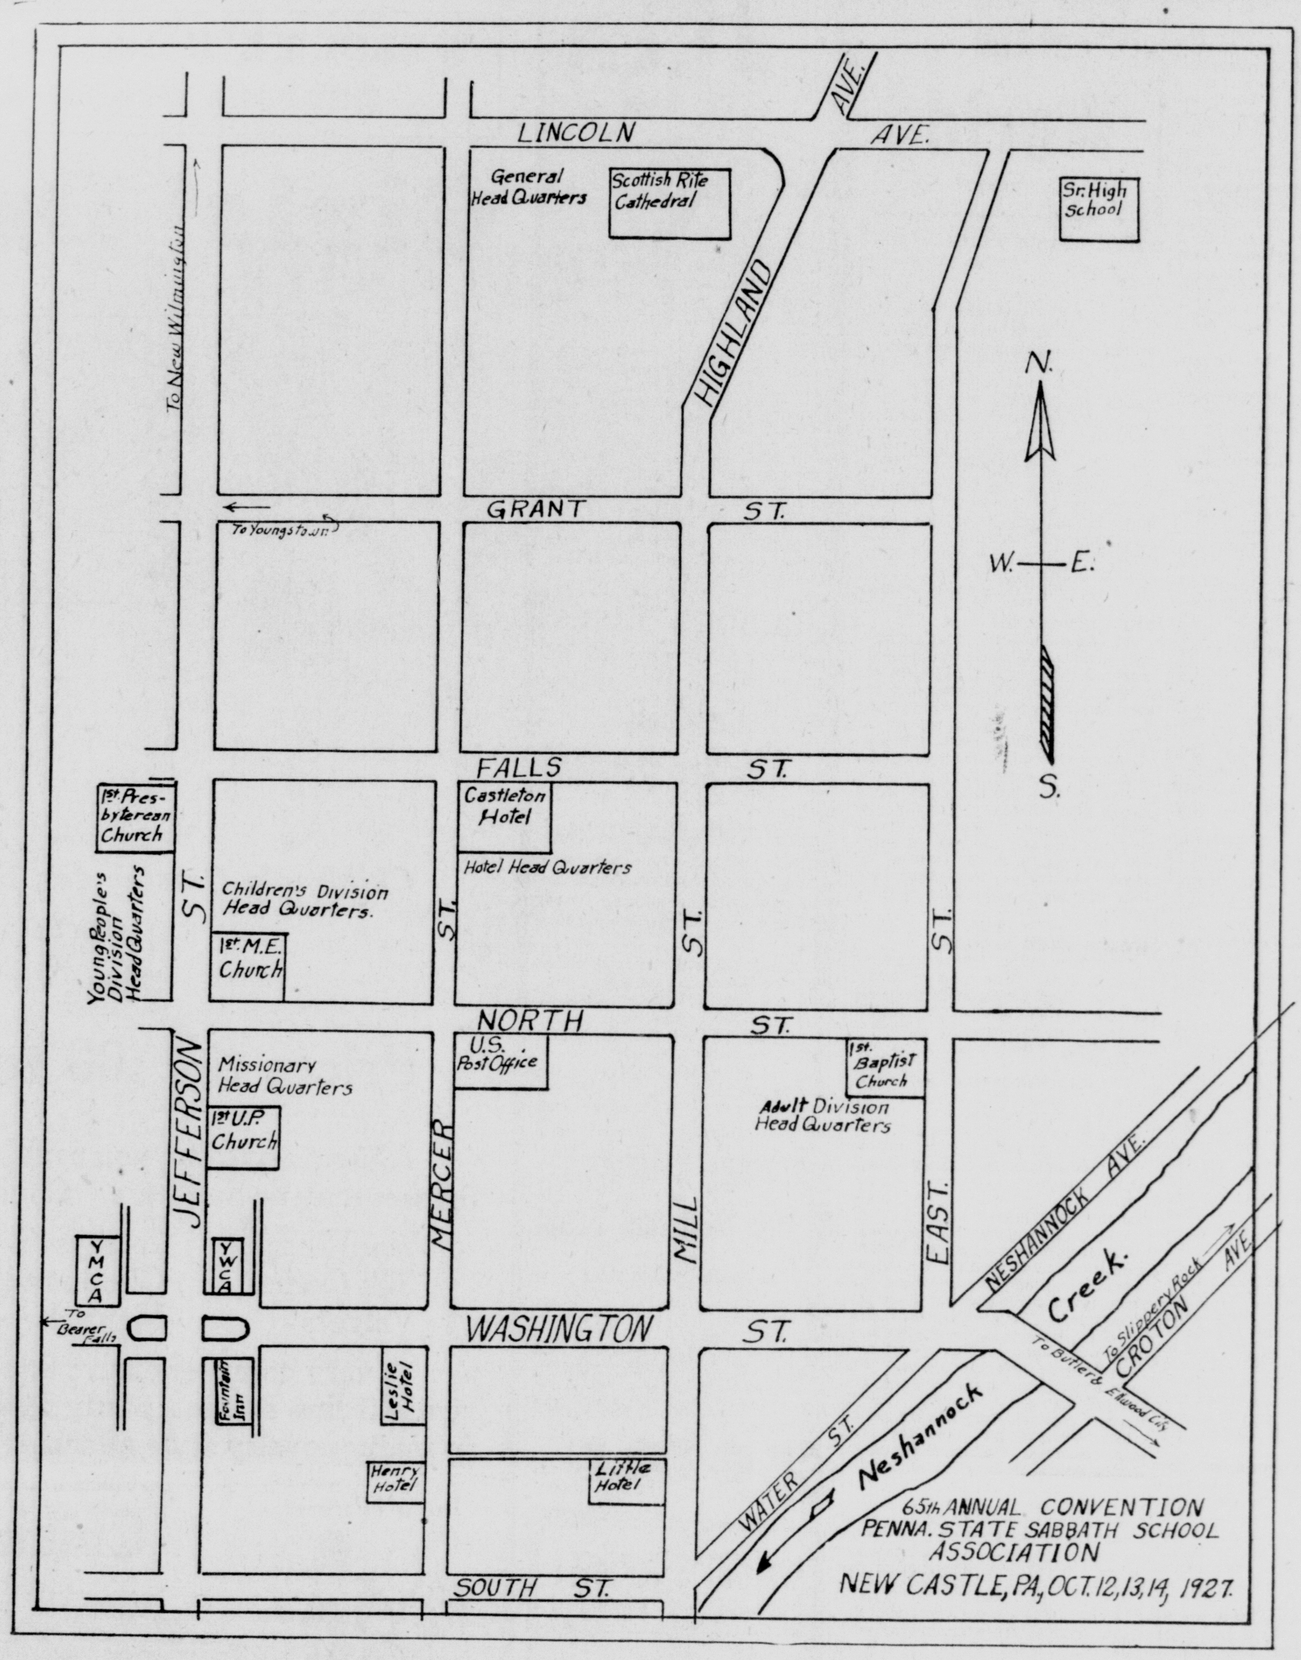

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said:

"One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Not Like Medicine

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine. Perfected by the famous Chemical Products Division of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Look for the Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle.

Sour Stomach

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug-store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

State Department Officials Shudder At Mexican Slaying

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Gen. Serrano "had it coming to him," according to Mexican law.

All the same, the state department folks couldn't repress a slight shudder at the short work of Gen. Obregon made of him a few days ago, with his chief lieutenants, for rebellion against President Calles.

Serrano was Obregon's war minister. They were buddies. "Like brothers" was the way they generally were described.

Still, there was no doubt about Serrano's rebellion.

The Emperor Meximilian's government made the law originally, in the 60's. It provided—no ceremony with rebels, caught red-handed—a drumhead court martial and a firing squad—pronto!

Maximilian used it against Rebel Juarez's forces for quite awhile.

Then Juarez caught Maximilian and executed him, under his own law. He said Maximilian was the revel; not he (Juarez).

It was too handy a law to repeal. The Mexicans have kept it ever since. It accounts for so many military executions south of the Rio Grande. Some critics say it amounts to butchering prisoners of war. No such thing. It's a law.

Even though a rebel, Serrano appears to have been an exceptionally fine chap. Washington officials knew him quite well, through his connection with the Obregon regime, and were mighty sorry to hear he'd been shot.

A good deal of surprise is expressed over the fact that he took the war path at this time.

It's assumed he thought he wasn't getting a fair break as a presidential candidate, but the general verdict is that he was foolish not to wait until after election, instead of rebelling so early—with the opposition's crookedness, if any, not only unproved but not even committed yet.

The best guess is that Serrano simply was the "goat".

Dwight Morrow will be in Mexico soon, as American ambassador. He's expected to be a strong influence for peace. There are interests that don't want peace there until they've got "theirs." If they could have fixed it to have Morrow land in the midst of a rebellion, it would just have suited their plans.

The time being short, it's imaginable that they hornswaggled Serrano into going off at half cock.

Washington is pretty well satisfied now that Obregon will succeed Calles as president next year in the regular way.

It's regarded by peace-lovers as a program devoutly to be wished.

His best friends don't speak of Calles as tactful. They defend him as honest, patriotic and courageous, but they have to admit that he's bull-headed, and some say thick-headed, too.

Obregon's given credit for all Calles' best qualities and first rate ability besides.

Foreign oil companies in Mexico send word that they're laying off hands wholesale because the government won't grant new well permits.

Official figures show 529 permits granted from Jan. 1 to Aug. 10.

While not a record, experts pronounce this fairly good, for a time when the companies are curtailing Mexican drilling and capping wells, to counteract the American oversupply, which can better be done there than here, because Mexican derricks aren't so congested and pumping competition consequently isn't so keen.

At the same time, combining business with pleasure, they seem to be blaming the Mexican government for what they want to do any way.

I have noticed during the recent rains that the skidding on Mill street bridge is getting to be terrible. When one is coming across it and even attemps to brake his car it immediately slithers around to one side. During the recent rain I understand that there were several accidents that were but narrowly averted.

Something surely can be done about this. There is some way I know it, which the floor of the bridge can be made rougher and safer for vehicular traffic.

Shoes and women's shoes in particular, are beginning to be more sensible, I believe. In all of the show windows, one sees displayed shoes with broad toes and rather flat heels. In fact they are quite a contrast to the shoes of a few seasons ago with their high spike heels and needle like toes.

Well this is in line with everything else. It seems. All clothing is becoming more and more sensible; yes, even the men are beginning to see the light and wear soft collars and things like that.

We are having an institute and I believe that it is one of the best things of the school year. At institute one hears many of the most noted educators in the country and one can profit by their experience and then one gets to meet other teachers and the exchange of ideas and views is very helpful I think.

Other branches of labor have taken up the institute idea only they call them conventions. Well, the basic principle is the same; it is nothing more than a get together and exchange.

This year I believe that we are going to have one of the livest boys department that we have had yet. All of the boys seem to be getting behind it and pushing.

But, in a space of two weeks, we have had two picnics that cannot be beaten. At both the turnout has been fine and I believe that is a good sign for the coming winter season.

GOAT MEAT IS MORE POPULAR

(International News Service)

READING, Pa., Oct. 11.—Goat meat has become a fashionable roast for sportsmen and their friends in Berks county according to Dr. Ira Hain, city health officer and William Merkle health analysist.

One of the outlying farms near Spring Valley is operated by Harry G. Huber, chief of city detectives. Huber has built up a game camp on a long idle estate with lake, stream and vast woodlands.

Several of the chief's friends sent him goats some of them said to be of Swiss breed. He raised such a large number that his gaming spot became well populated with the animals. Advised by noted chefs of the fashionable clubs in Reading he instituted goat roasts for members of the police and his political friends.

A large oven was erected expressly for roasting goat meat which has become very popular with Huber's guests.

Government agents make it a point to stop for a bit of roast goat following their raids of rural stills and breweries in the vicinity.

Former Governor M. G. Brumbaugh One Of Speakers Monday Afternoon

SPECIAL MUSICAL FEATURES PLANNED

First session of the Lawrence County Teachers' Institute opened Monday afternoon at the Shenango Township Consolidated School at East New Castle with every teacher of the county schools present.

Three noted speakers were on the program, Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, President of Juniata College and former governor of Pennsylvania, Dr. O. T. Corson, Oxford, Ohio, former state superintendent of Ohio schools, and Dr. Robert C. Shaw of the department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg, Pa.

Music was led by B. Vincent Galbraith of Brookville, Pa., with his daughter acting as pianist. They also rendered special music as they will each session of the Institute.

On Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 the Toy Orchestra of the Shenango-Taylor Joint School will give a demonstration of what children of the first grade can do in the first steps of music. The orchestra is composed of about 20 children of the first grade and they play trumpets, triangles and drums, etc., in time with a phonograph record. One of their number with a wand leads the orchestra in unison. Miss Edna Neal, teacher of music in the school directs the children in their work.

At the evening's entertainment the orchestra from Bessemer High School will furnish the music. Thursday afternoon the Mt. Jackson High School Orchestra will play several selections and on Thursday evening the Union High School Orchestra will be present to furnish the music for the occasion.

Ex-Governor Brumbaugh in his address yesterday afternoon on the subject of "What is Knowing," said that we have compulsory education in this country in order that by universal education alone can a staple government be possible. He said that there are three or four divisions or kinds of knowing that are emphasized in the different ages of school life. The primary scholars should be taught to know clearly, relative or related knowing should be stressed in higher grades. In the high school scholars should be taught to know in parts or the elements of knowledge while in college the 'why' is emphasized.

Dr. Corson in his address on the subject "The Largest Factor in the Improvement of Schools" brought out that the personality of the teacher was the all important factor. He said that when they had a good teacher they had a good school. He is inclined to think that the course of study is tending to eliminate too many subjects that are required and too many electives are allowed. Thus a course may be made very easy.

Dr. Shaw in speaking on "Pennsylvania's School System" brought out the fact that 720,000 of the school children of the state are in rural districts, and their importance may be shown in the fact that the majority of American Born children are found in the rural districts while fewer real Americans are found in the city schools. The country districts are realizing the importance of their schools by the increase each year of good consolidated schools. Nearly two thirds of the scholars of the rural districts of the state now are enrolled in the some 400 consolidated schools leaving only about 250,000 scholars of the 720,000 in the 8,500 one-room schools.

Test Mercer Cows For Tuberculosis

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 11.—Three veterinarians will work on the 1,000 cattle in Mercer county, comprising 99 herds, that are being tested for tuberculosis until the job is finished, is the statement of today of Dr. H. Dr. Milo, who spent a month here this summer during the time that the cattle were re-tested following a three-year lapse since the first examination, made a flying trip to the county to see how the work was progressing.

Two veterinarians, assisted by Farm Agent Hagar, worked this past week. The additional man will permit the work to be completed within a week, is the opinion.

It is an unusual picture but one that has a peculiar appeal to every one. Based on the romantic and storied period of the Civil war and the famous State of Maryland, David Belasco made a great stage play from it. It is still greater as a film play, being a scenic wonder, full of beautiful thought and romance.

In "The Heart of Maryland" with Dolores and Helen Costello the screen has one of its most beautiful stories. Abe Lincoln, U. S. Grant, Gen. R. E. Lee and a host of others are portrayed as near to life as is possible.

Be sure and come and see this picture. There is also a comedy, "Buster's Initiation" and the Latest News of the World Today and Tomorrow Only.

Business Driving London 'Clubland' Out Of Existence

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The march of business is driving London's old-fashioned "Clubland" out of existence.

Real estate authorities state that one by one, as their present leases fall in, the famous clubs of Pall Mall and Piccadilly will have to make way for shops and offices.

It is all due to the tendency of big business to move towards the "West End" of London. The "City" the ancient center of trade and commerce is now too congested, and everyone who wants large office accommodation is now moving to what was, until recently an area which was either residential or else sacred to the most celebrated clubs.

Piecadilly, for instance, is now becoming the chief street of London for the automobile business, first grade hotels and restaurants. Twenty years ago it was practically devoted to huge town houses and clubs. Nowadays, because of its unrivalled position, big business corporations are prepared to pay any rentals for floor space.

Even where clubs have long terms to run, it is seldom that they can afford to refuse the hug offers made to them to vacate their premises. Very few clubs are in a flourishing financial condition in London at present, and it is a sore temptation to yield when a large sum of ready money is offered merely for removal.

Verdicts Rendered In Cases At Court

In the case of Peter Christian against John Rung, which was tried before Judge Hildebrand in Lawrence county court yesterday, the jury awarded a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $308.22.

In the case of the C. Ed. Smith Hardware company against John Powell, the jury awarded a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $125.

The case of Teece against Thornton, growing out of a commission for the sale of real estate, was settled.

In the case of Theodore Lambros against Harry D. Smith, based on a note, a verdict was rendered in favor of the defendant.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Rev. Billy Sunday was in Cleveland, Ohio, last night, and spoke to an audience of 10,000 in the Cleveland Public Hall. Rev. Sunday made one of his characteristic addresses.

North Mercer street between North and Falls street, which has been resurfaced, has been opened to traffic. The street was also widened about four feet by moving the curbing back on either side. It is a much needed improvement.

Another noticeable improvement in this general area is the curb lighting system on Falls street extending from Mill to Jefferson streets. While the lights are as yet on only one side of the street, it provides quite an attractive White Way towards the new hotel.

This is a week of unusual activity along religious lines in this city. Not only is the Sabbath School convention being held in this city but on Sunday the magnificent new Third United Presbyterian church on the East Side will be formally dedicated, and likewise, Sunday is the annual Rescue Mission Day in New Castle.

Decorations for the State Sabbath School convention week are being put in place about the city this afternoon, and by the time that the great mass of the delegates arrive on Wednesday, the city will present quite an attractive welcome.

Holding of the County Teacher's Institute in the Shenango township school, is another mark of local progress. The consolidated school in Shenango township provides an auditorium such as any modern school of today requires.

Feel Stiff and Achy?

To Be Well the Kidneys Must Thoroughly Eliminate Waste Poisons From the Blood

DOES every day find you lame, stiff and achy? Do you feel tired and drowsy—suffer nagging backache, headache and dizzy spells? Are the kidney secretions scanty and burning in passage? Do you wonder what is wrong?

Know, then, that these are often signs of improper kidney action. Active kidneys free the blood of poisonous waste. Sluggish kidneys allow acid poisons to remain in the blood and upset the whole system.

If you have reason to believe your kidneys are acting sluggishly, assist them by using a tested diuretic.* Doan's Pills have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have established a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended the country over. Ask your neighbor!

*Diuretics are agents which increase the secretion of the kidneys.—Encyclopaedia definition.

The Daybook OF A New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—I was in the furniture section of a large department store looking at some chairs. Nearby was a fairly aged couple, who, judging by their accent, were from New England. They apparently had minutely inspected every living room set in the place and were now giving thorough attention to one they liked. The old lady, from a distance of two inches, squinted at the upholstery; she prodded it and picked it. Her husband, no wide-eyed babe, examined the quality of the glue in the joints with his pen knife. There was no flaw that could have escaped the eye of this aged pair of cynics.

They decided to take the set. The salesman asked when they would like to have the articles delivered, and he seemed amazed when he was told that it must be delivered immediately. After some thought, he consented, explaining, however, that it would take some time, since a truck would be forced to journey to the store's warehouse in order to get a duplicate of this set. Not so. The couple would have none of this. They had decided on this set and this one they must have. No duplicate would satisfy. And so, under their watchful eye, the furniture was packed and loaded on a truck. Nor was this sufficient precaution. They rode home on the truck.

If one goes to a department store nowadays and asks for almost any article to take out, he will be forced to wait quite a time before getting his purchases. Stores have found that a very small minority of customers take their packages with them. Consequently, they have found it easier to keep a few samples of each article. The actual stock is kept in a nearby storehouse, to be collected by delivery wagons, as they make up their packages for the day's round. Often I have waited three-quarters of an hour for a few shirts, while a boy was sent to the storehouse to get them.

What becomes of the countless pairs of youthful lovers when the weather grows cold? Summer, Spring and early Fall find the parks overflowing with them, but they cannot go there in the Winter. Do they give up seeing each other? They do not. There are three places in New York which are crowded by the lovelorn during the cold months. These are the Public Library, Grand Central Station and the movie theaters. The Grand Central offers an exhibit of ancient railroad equipment on the upper balcony. Here and in the waiting rooms, the city's poor young people wander about, forlornly—but happily. Holding hands and seeing each other is enough. Again, there are countless small departments, shady nooks and crannies in the library, which will afford a measure of comfortable privacy. Even in the vast main reading room, hands are clasped under the table, as their owners pore seriously over weighty tomes.

The movies, I think, are the most popular of all. The commodious secluded seats in the Capitol loge, the boxes at the Strand, the pitch dark seats in the Fifth Avenue Playhouse—these are corners which are more than sufficient for these love-starved youngsters. Even the small neighborhood theaters generally have small boxes which are popular with this class.

The unfortunate children are forced into these poor substitutes for proper companionship. Many of them live in tiny furnished rooms, others with their families in overcrowded tenements. The beaux are reluctant to visit the small rooms, because this would be indicative of improper conduct (indeed, it might be grounds for arrest) and on the other hand, the girl or boy is ashamed to bring his companion to the dowdy place which he or she calls home. It is a situation which exists, I am sure, not only in New York, but in every large city, and it is one which will undoubtedly be remedied by provisions by municipal government—in the form of recreation buildings or similar establishments.

The ideal way to live, if you must live on Manhattan Island, is in a so-called pent house, or rooftop apartment, on a high apartment building. If you are lucky enough to secure such a place, you will have a high, railed in play-place for your children, if any; abundant air and light, and that pearl of treasures to the adopted New Yorker, a view. I know a few people whose homes are in pent houses, but they pay a lot for living in them— more than most of my friends can afford.

Fish Swallows Ring Lost 46 Years Ago

(International News Service)

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Oct. 11.—Believe it or not—here's a fish story that covers a period of 46 years, and it's vouched for by one of Huntingdon's most respected citizens.

Forty-six years ago, the story goes a dozen of Huntingdon's young set held a picnic on the wooded banks of the Juniata river near an old dam west of town. Several of the young men displayed their prowess in rowing a boat during which one youth accidentally dropped an amethyst ring which was given for lost.

Nearly a half century passed. The old river dam was demolished and a great hydro-power dam took its place.

Recently George Ballantyne, a fisherman, caught a 13-pound carp near the dam in almost the exact spot where the ring was lost and found, embedded in the carp's gullet—the long lost amethyst ring.

The owner of the ring according to the story is Frank Hall of the State Department of Mines at Harrisburg.

Examination of the fish and the ring showed a thin membranous growth had partly enclosed the ring which was not badly tarnished.

A local ichthologist estimated the ring had been in the fish's gullet about two years and the carp is about six years old.

Urge Pupil To Study For Himself Is Plea Of Dr. M. G. Brumbaugh

Teachers In County Institute Sessions Hear Able Addresses

Dr. O. T. Corson Speaks On Cultivation Of Personality This Morning

Former Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh, speaking at the Lawrence county teachers' institute, held at the Shenango township consolidated school this morning, urged the teachers to instill within the children a love of studying for himself rather than to merely digest what was given him by the teacher.

Dr. Brumbaugh said that a teacher can teach habits of study to a child so that they will make it part of their work all their life to always study. In dealing with his subject, "The Basis of the Curriculum", he said that the funds of knowledge could be likened to six baskets in which knowledge could be stored. These different divisions of knowledge are literature, science, mathematics, history, art and religion.

Dr. Robert C. Shaw, deputy superintendent of the Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburgh, in treating the subject, "Our Public Schools", said that our public schools were one of the greatest institutions in the world. He said that the greatest thing in the world was the human soul, and therefore the greatest work in the world was influencing the soul for good. In the home, church and school this great work is being done and the making of character depends a great amount on the teacher in the school. His chief criticism of our public schools was that so many children did not finish school. The World War showed that only 13 out of 100 finished high school and two out of 100 finished college.

Dr. O. T. Carson, former state superintendent of schools in Ohio, spoke this morning on "The Cultivation of Personality". In order to cultivate a fine personality, he said, we need to practice self-control, self-respect, self-helpfulness and self-forgetfulness. He said that self-forgetfulness was one of the greatest marks of a great man and the finest example of self-forgetfulness that he knows was Abraham Lincoln. Dr. Corson, who is to give a lecture this evening at the Shenango school free to the public, on "Lincoln's Reverence", says that he thinks Lincoln approached divinity nearer than any man ever did.

B. Vincent Gailbraith and daughter of Brookville, Pa., who are the entertainers at the county teachers' institute this year, twice a day give most pleasing music, as well as lead the institute in their general singing. This morning Mr. Galbraith and his daughter, accompanying themselves on the guitars, touched many chords of emotions in the hearts of the teachers by their presentation of "Whispering Hope", "Captain Jenks' and "Farewell to Thee".

Of those who never hurry or worry, some are born so; others have obtained political jobs.

They were: Benjamin and Frank Fogel, Benjamin and David Gorsenstein and Edward Silberstein. Coolidge Fails To Approve Big Tax Reduction

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The proposal of the United States Chamber of Commerce that the coming congress slash taxes by from $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 fails to meet with the approval of President Coolidge, it was indicated today at the White House.

A tax cut of such magnitude, in the opinion of the executive, most certainly would involve a deficit and accordingly should not be considered.

To date, Mr. Coolidge has not been furnished with treasury figures and estimates and therefore he cannot estimate the amount that congress should lop off the national burden. From past experience and present indications, however, he feels certain that it must be considerably lower than $300,000,000.

The man who never takes a long shot never shoots very far.

A short tale can go a long way.

He's the Ace Of Baseball Camera Men

"Old Ironsides," otherwise William Ironson, International Newsreel photographer, bears the distinction of having "shot" more world series than any living man.

Bill started his sports career at the tender age of 25 and now, at 60, he's still going strong. The Pirate-Yankee series marked the sixteenth titular struggle that Bill recorded for the benefit of millions of fans throughout the world.

His first series was the 1908 struggle between the Giants and Athletics. Bill is shown wearing world series emblems presented to him by the various clubs winning the diamond classics.

Ironson is a personal friend and immensely popular with everybody in America's "Who's Who of Sportdom."

Government Regains Naval Oil Reserve

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. — The Government has regained the rich Teapot Dome Naval Oil Reserve.

In a lengthy decision, the Supreme Court held that the leasing transaction by which ex-Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall turned over the Reserve to Harry F. Sinclair, oil man, was "shot through with fraud." Consequently, the court ordered the lease cancelled. The decision was unanimous.

Similar words were used when the court cancelled E. L. Doheny's lease to the Elk Hills, California, Reserve. It said that lease was "tainted with corruption."

By these decisions the court ended the Government's long legal battle to recapture the oil lands which Fall leased.

Justice Butler, who read the Sinclair decision, said that all circumstances in the lease "pointed to a fraudulent conspiracy." He added, however, that the question of bribery did not enter into the case, although the Government charged that Liberty bonds passed from Sinclair to Fall.

Throughout his opinion Justice Butler condemned Fall. He painted him as "a faithless public officer." He said Fall intended to put through the lease whether it was legal or not.

The decision was a sweeping victory for the Government for the court held that the lease was made without legal authority and therefore refused to allow claims by Sinclair for money spent in improving the property. Among the claims were $300,000 by the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company for 17 steel tanks, and $700,000 by the Sinclair Pipe Line Company for pumping equipment. These companies are owned jointly by the Sinclair Consolidated Corporation and the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

Impressive Ceremonies Attend Laying Of Masonic Corner Stone

Rev. Hugh Thompson Kerr Of Pittsburgh Delivers Inspiring Address

Stone Is Laid By Deputy Grand Master Amid Impressive Silence Of Members

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 11.—The cornerstone of the Masonic Temple on Fifth street was laid with impressive ceremony yesterday at high noon, witnessed by 300 people.

The ceremonies opened with a prayer by one of the visiting officials, followed by the rendering of "America" by the high school orchestra. District Deputy Grand Master J. Russell Urmson was then addressed by a high official of the local lodge and chairman of the cornerstone laying committee, stating that all was in readiness for the laying of the stone. Next on the program was the depositing of coins and gifts in the steel box which was enclosed later in the cornerstone.

A list of articles placed in the box was read as follows: resolutions of the lodge, as adopted at a meeting conducted October 12, 1926, when the building committee asked permission to purchase site for new home; list of building committee and incorporators of Masonic Association; $1, 50c, 25c, 10c and 1c; a copy of Saturday's Ellwood Ledger and New Castle News; list of members of the Ellwood lodge; copy of charter, copy of plans and specifications, copy of contract and names of architect and contractor in charge of the building.

Next came a selection by the double quartet, comprising Mrs. W. R. Thompson, Mrs. H. D. Patterson, Mrs. Harry Harris, Miss Mary Blocher, P. W. Blocher, Louis Baker, B. J. Bell, William Jones and Paul Welsh.

The cornerstone was then laid with due ceremony, when the Right Senior Grand Warden announced to the members that the will of the Right Worshipful Grand Master was to lay the cornerstone, which was done at the northeast corner of the foundation.

The high school orchestra then played "Abide With Me", followed by a selection by the double quartet.

Deputy Grand Master Urmson then introduced the speaker of the day. He said: "What do I get out of Masonry? Association with fellow men in a brotherhood banded together in common with men of high and low degree. One brother stands alone in this part of Pennsylvania. He is internationally known, and one whom I regard highly, although never having known him, I hear him every Sunday over my radio. I am honored to present Rev. Hugh Thompson Kerr, pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh.

Rev. Kerr in his opening remarks stated: "Any man who lays a brick, sets a stone or plants a tree adds something to the wealth of our commonwealth." He went on to state that to some the laying of a cornerstone is no more than that, but to others it is the laying of an ideal. To those who understand and appreciate, the act is significant of what is to be enshrined in the building, the laying of the stone has a meaning all its own. He went on: "The facts of life are the same for all of us, although each lays his own interpretation on the laying of the cornerstone, the laying of this stone is the laying of a suggestive stone in a realm of faith." In closing he said: "We congratulate the Ellwood City lodge on their near-attainment of the new Temple of Faith, and if the true fraternal principles are enshrined within its sacred walls it will be a better temple."

The next step in the program was the showering of money from the golden vessels into the stone, while the band played "Crown Him Lord of All".

The ceremonies closed with the presentation of building plans by the Deputy Grand Master to the architect, Byron McCandless, which will be returned to the lodge at the completion of the building.

The local dignitaries and visitors and members of the lodge then marched to the Methodist church, where a buffet lunch was served.

Penn Football Team Powerful, Victory Shows

Defeat Of Brown University Team Sends Penn Stock Soaring

WILL PLAY PENN STATE SATURDAY

By MALCOLM ROY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—No football eleven in the East appears more formidable at the moment than the University of Pennsylvania team, which though relatively green and inexperienced, has taken a commanding position because of its unheralded victory over the powerful Brown University "Iron Men."

Coach Lou Young of the Quakers has made an estimable beginning in solving one of the most difficult problems ever presented to a coach. With many of his veterans lost by graduation and through other causes, Young was forced to develop an eleven to play a schedule in which seven games of major proportion followed two admittedly easy contests. In fact the game with Brown would have been regarded by most teams as a climatic battle but Young had to have his eleven ready to take it in its stride. With Brown out of the way, Penn now has before it Penn State, Chicago, Navy, Harvard, Columbia and Cornell, in that order.

Fortunately Young's early selection of his lineup has been proved by the ordeal of battle to be just about the best that he could have chosen in any event. The line from tackle to tackle is a sturdy, cohesive piece of machinery. Beautifully balanced and well trained both in offense and defense. With Olexy at centre and Utz and McGinnis at the guards, the red and blue has a centre trio of remarkable flexibility on defense and rugged effectiveness on the attack. Olexy is unhurried in his passes and has the endurance of a man of brass, as was demonstrated when he played through the Swarthmore game with the temperature running up to 100 degrees and his mates falling at his side every few minutes. Monk and Hoffman are in the second string guards.

Hake, Smith and Kuen are regarded as the first string tackles with Hake and Kuen as the ranking pair. Schneider, Downey and Bailey are the recognized reserves and give Young a fairly representative group from which to select.

Folwell Scull has followed the footsteps of his brother Paul, so successfully that he has won the left end position. His keen eye and alert hands proved valuable assets for the Quakers against Brown when he intercepted a forward pass. Lenzer at right end is a more experienced hand than Scull and his receiving of forward passes is as a rule slightly more error-proof.

But between them Young has a fine pair of wings. George Foster Sanford's son is understudy for Scull and may yet demonstrate that he is quite as effective a football player as the elder Sanford was in his student days at New Haven. Sullivan, Buch and Odioine give Young in all four second string ends, all well versed in their game.

But it is in the backfield that the Quakers are at their best. Young has improved the masked ballplays to a fine point of perfection and has developed not only speed of hand but speed of foot, as well, to insure their success. This is one of the reasons why Paul Scull, the intercollegiate sprinter, looms so large behind the red and blue line and it also explains the heavy responsibility that has been placed on the shoulders of Martin Brill, the sophomore halfback who got his first chance to show his wares in fast company against Brown.

Scotts In Sports

By Feg Murray

There have been many famous Scotts, of course, in history, literature and art, such as Sir Walter Scott and General Winfield Scott, but if we delve into the realms of sport we find that the clan of that name is also quite prominent in baseball, boxing and golf.

The much criticized, yet most consistent winner among the British heavyweights of recent years is Phil Scott, who is about to try his luck in a series of bouts in this country. I say "series" with the hope that the young man survives his first few, which isn't likely, if he is patterned after most British heavyweights. "Scots wha hae wi' Wallace bled" does not apply to Phil. He is too big to mingle with Billy Wallace, who is only a lightweight, so there will be no bleeding in a bout with that gentleman for this Scott, anyway.

Phil Scott's chief claim to fame, as far as one can gather from a perusal of his ring record, is that he outpointed Tom Heeney in 20 rounds. But the fact that he was knocked out by Paulino, who was beaten by our own Jack Delaney, and also put to sleep by Harry Persson, who was beaten by our Jimmy Maloney, seems to offer scant hope for his future success here against even second-rate fighters. He has hopes of being matched with Champion Gene Tunney.

There have been several Scotts in baseball. Most famous of these is Everett Scott, former Red Sox and Yankee shortstop, who played in 1,307 consecutive games. Then there are Jack Scott, Philly pitcher, and four other "Scott" hurlers: Amos, Cincinnati, 1901; Edward, Cleveland, 1901; George W., Cardinals, 1920, and James, who was with the White Sox from 1909 to 1917, inclusive.

In golf there are Andrew, the Hon. Denys, the Hon. Michael, the Hon. Osmund and Robert, Junior, who may be an "Hon." yet if he doesn't watch out.

Scott of Wisconsin was all-American tackle in 1920. Don Scott won the A. A. U. half-mile championship in 1916, setting a new record of 1 minute 54 seconds.

Feg Murray Says—

The football coach at Texas Agricultural college is D. X. Bible. It is said that he teaches several plays not in the book.

Ben Franklin And North Street Tie

Ben Franklin and North Street opened the inter-class football league, on Monday afternoon at the Ben Franklin high stadium, by deadlocking 0-0.

The teams were about evenly matched as to size, but the North Street boys outweighed the Franklinites quite a few pounds. Neither team came within hailing distance of the goal posts. In the first few minutes of play the North Street team was forced to rely on their defense, with the Franklin high backs making gains through the line. Fumbles were costly to both teams.

Both coaches used innumerable substitutes but to no avail. The greater part of the playing was done in mid-field. Occasionally one of the backfield men would break away for a short gain of 5 to 10 yards, but long runs were taboo.

Mitchell, Hanlon and Deep were the stars for the Franklin team, with Kay, Donigan and Hodge playing a strong game for the North Street boys.

The Franklin high team has been weakened this year by the division that gives the school two football teams, one known as the Trade school eleven. Franklin high's weakened condition was quite noticeable. North Street has a likely looking outfit this year, but they lack experience. Coach Sommerville, however, was quite well pleased with the showing made by the North Street boys, and Coach Norton was equally as well pleased with the manner in which his cohorts accounted for themselves.

Both teams tried many forward passes, but not one of them were completed, it was about the only hope of scoring in the last quarter and the passes flew thick and fast but they were easily grounded.

Dayton Steele Will Battle New Castle High On Saturday

Defeat Of Highly Touted Ohio Schoolboy Team Boosts Locals' Stock

Coach Bridenbaugh Gives New Castle Team Rest On Monday Afternoon

Having chased themselves into a state bordering on exhaustion Saturday afternoon, in thier annual frolic with Donora High, the New Castle High football team earned a well deserved rest Monday.

Coach Philip Bridenbaugh took one longing look at his tired and happy schoolboy eleven yesterday afternoon and then straightway announced that practice for the day would be curtailed. A short talk by the coach was sufficient and the boys were excused until today.

New Castle High was rather elated Saturday when word reached this city that Erie Academy High had walloped the highly touted Dayton Steele team for a 26 to 0 verdict. The Ohio team looked rather impressive according to the information, but they were no match for the Lake Erie boys.

Hope For Victory

New Castle High has hopes of winning their fifth straight victory Saturday in their initial meeting with the Dayton Steele crew. Grove City, Franklin, Mars and Donora has felt the wrath of the powerful red and black machine so far this year, and the locals are harboring fond desires of tacking another victory to the already impressive list.

Several strenuous workouts are on the list this week for the local gridders, including two or more scrimmage sessions. The boys are just a little weak in their tackling and it is altogether likely that the "dummy" will be hauled out in a few days for a few sessions.

The red and black warriors will be in the "peak of condition" when they face Dayton Steele here Saturday. There are no major injuries on the team at the present time, with the exception of Earl Turk the lumbering halfback who is suffering with a badly inflamed leg. Turk will more than likely be in shape for the game Saturday.

Allegheny Team Primed For Game With Westminster

Meadville Boys To Observe Home-Coming Day By Meeting Westminster

MEADVILLE, Pa., Oct. 11.—Allegheny college football team returned from Hanover, N. H., Sunday night. They held their initial workout Monday in preparation for the home-coming game with Westminster colcge next Saturday on Montgomery field. The Blue and Gold is slowly recovering from injuries sustained in the St. Bonaventure game two weeks ago and it is believed that Fullback Forbes and Halfback Moon will again be in condition to function in their respective positions. Of course Norman Beals, left tackle, who has a fractured ankle, will probably not be able to play again this year.

The team is not discouraged because of their defeat at the hands of the strong Dartmouth team. In fact, there is much consolation in knowing that the famous Big Green team was unable to complete a single forward pass in six attempts while Allegheny netted a touchdown from one of them. The middle of the Allegheny line also demonstrated its ability to repulse the strongest thrusts aimed at it. It was only the marvelous speed and ability of the Hanover backs in running the ends that enabled Allegheny's opponents to win so decisively.

The home-coming game next Saturday is expected to be the outstanding game on the home field this year. The teams are equally matched in size and experience and both are expected to resort to considerable open play. Coach Merritt has been holding his passing attack in check but the improvement that is daily shown in practice in this phase of the game indicates that it will be unleashed against Allegheny's old rival next Saturday. Westminster also is quite adept at forward passing. The local team remembers well the spectacular work of McQuiston in the role of the forward passer two years ago. Merritt's week of drill at breaking up passes in preparation for the Dartmouth game is expected to stand Allegheny well in hand in next Saturday's contest.

Inter-Class League Game This Afternoon

The first game of the inter-class football league is scheduled to take place this afternoon at Franklin field between the Seniors and Juniors of the Senior High school.

STARS TO REPORT

Colored Stars are requested to report for grid practice every day this week as their season will open Friday at 4:30 p. m. against the Apprentice eleven on Boyles field.

Perotta Signs For Bout In Buffalo

Matched To Box Harry Fuller Friday Night

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 11.—George Perotta, the hard-punching Erie middleweight, will make his initial bow before a Buffalo audience on Friday night, when he meets Harry Fuller on a Crescent S. C. bill in the Broadway auditorium. Fuller is rated highly in Buffalo.

The Erie boy is in a race, so to speak, with Heavy Andrews and Johnny Carey for a place in the fistic spotlight in Buffalo. Andrews won himself a flock of offers when he put Willie Lavin on the floor for two counts of nine in their recent meeting here. Johnny Carey won a decision over Luke Carr in Buffalo last week. Now Perrotta has his chance.

A win over Fuller will make George quite an attraction in the Bison City. Fuller has been beaten but once in his entire career. That was in his bout with Frankie Schoell, one of the greatest welterweights in the country, and the lad Buffalo promoters would like to see pitted against Heavy Andrews. One of Perrotta's chief assets is his terrific wallop. If it lands, something has to give way.

Marcella, Meider, D. Baptiste, Phillips, Gunnett, E. Richael, Flannery, H. Hannon, T. Rich, and Captain F. Baptiste.

SORDS POINTS

Penants "Old Stuff" for Dreyfuss

By JACK SORDS

Six National league pennants since he took control of the "Smoky City" team is the record of Barney Dreyfuss.

Pittsburgh had long labored in the National with terrible results. Not until Dreyfuss arrived in 1900 did the team cut much of a figure in the league. Previously they had finished the season with a percentage of almost anything from .170 up.

When Barney became president, the team immediately played a prominent part in making National league history. They copped their first pennant in 1901 and repeated in 1902 and 1903. Here the pennant rambles came to a halt until 1909 when again they finished ahead of the field. This year and 1925 were the other successful seasons.

Dreyfuss is the dean among National league magnates, holding the presidency longer than any man now connected with any club in the circuit.

Westminster Prepares For Allegheny Clash

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 11.—Coach Beede's Blue and White gridders came through the hard fought St. Francis game which was played here last Saturday, badly bruised and battered. The coaches now face the problem of getting the team in shape for the coming Allegheny clash next Saturday at Meadville. Three regulars who started the game Saturday are laid up with injuries namely O'Donovan, fullback; Machin, end, and Havrilla, halfback. How long they will be lost to the team is hard to determine at this time but it is believed that they will be able to participate in the coming clash with Allegheny.

Meanwhile the coaches are leaving no stone unturned in an attempt to perfect the general team play and to speed up the backfield so that the plays may be executed with clock-like smoothness. It is hoped to counteract fumbling which has been numerous in past games by snappy signal drills.

W. & J. To Meet Carnegie Tech Next Saturday

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 11.—Much of Washington and Jefferson College's hope of victory in its gridiron struggle with Carnegie Tech at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, Saturday afternoon rests upon the shoulders of two stalwart Beaver Valley athletes, Roy Edward Herrold, of Freedom, and Forest McCreery Douds, of Rochester.

Both enrolled at W. & J. with fine records as school athletes and they have lived up to expectations. Serving as understudy to the veteran ends, Edwards and Wild, Nick Herrold performed brilliantly whenever given an opportunity. With the passing of Edwards and Wilds, he naturally inherited one of the terminal positions. He was rushed into the spectacular Carnegie Tech struggle at Johnstown last fall at a critical moment and helped to stem the tide.

Douds is a sophomore and this is his first year on the varsity squad but he has won a regular position over a field which included a number of capable and more experienced linemen. He promises to develop into one of the great tackles in the history of football at W. & J.

His baptism of fire will come next Saturday, however, when he will be pitted against the slashing Tartans, who last year furnished one of the most astounding gridiron upsets of the year when they vanquished Notre Dame in Pittsburgh.

Saturday's struggle between W. & J. and Tech will be the only major struggle in the Pittsburgh district and is expected to attract a capacity crowd to Forbes Field, the home of the ... which is being converted into a gridiron. Tech will play all home games there.

Rocco To Battle Seifert Tonight

Heavyweights To Fight 10 Rounds In Youngstown Ring

MICKEY SOLOMON TO BOX KEEFE BUCKLEY

(By ED. FRITZ)

Sandy Seifert the young heavyweight from Pittsburgh and Emmett Rocco the Tarzan of the Connoquenessing clash in a 10-round bout tonight at Rayen-Wood auditorium, Youngstown, O., and according to the way the battle shapes up to the writer, Rocco will be given more of a testing by Seifert than he received at the hands of Joe Burke, Romeo Rojas, Sailor Maxted and others who tried to flatten the Ellwoodian.

Seifert is young in years but has been boxing longer than Rocco. He is clever and according to those who have seen the sandy-haired heavyweight in action he punches well.

Since the first time Emmett clambered through the hemp Youngstown fans have watched him score repeated victories. Not so long ago Jim Maloney was heralded as his prospective opponent.

This tidbit brought gladsome notes but when Godfrey and Heeney stopped the Boston fat boy Al Zill wanted no part of Maloney and gazed about for a youngster, who could box.

His gaze settled upon Seifert and as a result Josefus Cumo who manages the Ellwood battler signed his monaker and prospects for a rattling good fight are brighter in the last event on the card.

There will be three other fights, among them Keefe Buckley vs Mickey Solomon. This boy Solomon hails from the Eddie Weygant stable and has stopped every opponent he has met.

Fights Start At 8:15 p. m.

He is not rich in experience and no doubt will receive some setbacks before he emblazones fight cards as a feature fighter, but he has good prospects.

Just how good Buckley is the writer doesn't know, never having seen him in action. Al Zill, matchmaker, however, has and picked the Buckley person to oppose Solomon.

This will be the first contest of the evening so fans who are prone to take extra minutes to fasten a necktie to their shirt should be on hand when the minute hand rests at 8:15 p. m.

Franco Georgetti, the new motorpaced bicycle champion of America, was bern in Italy 25 years ago this month. Paired with Reggie McNamara, he was the winner of the six-day race in Madison Square Garden last March.

Since Miller Huggins took the helm ten years ago the New York Yankees have finished only once outside the first division.

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 11.—Instead of running here on October 29 the Geneva harriers will race the Blue and White team on Oct. 22 at Geneva due to a change of date made by the athletic managers of the two schools.

The October 22 meet with the Geneva cross country team will precede the Geneva-Waynesburg football tilt. As the Westminster team defeated the Geneva lads here Saturday it is hoped that they will bring back a victory from Beaver Falls.

Slowly Stamping Out Revolt That Now Grips Mexico

Execution Of More Than Three Score Revolutionists Reported

(International News Service)

NOGALES, Ariz., Oct. 11.—With the execution of more than three score of revolutionists reported from different sectors of Mexico, federal forces at Nogales, Sonora, today launched concerted efforts to stamp out the fire of rebellion that has kindled during the past two weeks.

General Arnulfo R. Gomez presidential candidate and leader of the revolution since the killing of his coworker, Francisco Serano is reported to have established himself with four thousand men on an elevated garrison near Perote, State of Vera Cruz.

Here in an ancient citadel the insurrecto leader is said to be endeavoring to brace a diminishing morale for a last stand against the troops representing the Calles government. It is conjectured here that Gomez will avert clash with the federal forces if possible and may seek safety in flight.

Reports reaching here that four generals of the Carranza regime have aligned with the Gomez forces in Durango State are not viewed as of special military significance by military leaders at Noagles, Sonora.

The generals reported to have deserted the federal cause are Agustin Castro, Luis Gutierrez, Jacinto Trevino and Frannisco Cordoba. Castro admitted opponent of Alvaro Obregon in his campaign for re-election to the presidency of the Southern republic is said to be the leader of the band that has sought refuge in the Durango mountains.

Governor Fisher Issues Orders To Halt Overlapping

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 11.—In an effort to curtail needless overlapping of state activities Governor John S. Fisher today issued an executive order to the heads of all departments under his supervision calling their attention to the amended section of the administrative code drafted to make such co-ordination possible.

The governor's order directed heads responsible for inspections to work out a program of co-operation "so as to avoid conflicting orders and overlapping." The method, the order went on, will not only reduce expenses but at the same time avoid confusion and "needless iritation."

The governor said that his attention had been called to instances where institutions received conflicting orders from several state authorities, usually without the knowledge of the department having direct jurisdiction.

After a plan of co-operation is worked out all orders affecting public and private concerns and institutions will be handled only through the head of the department primarily responsible.

(International News Service)

Authorities said Belbin signed a statement that he set fire to the Providence Presbyterian church on July 7; St. John's Episcopal church, July 8; St. Stanislaus Roman Catholic church, Sept. 4, and Puritan Congregational church, Oct. 4.

Fire apparatus was rushed from seven nearby boroughs when it became apparent that the local company would be unable to cope with the blaze. Those answering the calls were Point Marion, Waynesburg, Jefferson, Carmichael, Masontown, Rices Landing and Uniontown.

The firemen injured when they collapsed from exhaustion were Francis May, 18; Louis Hanna, 32, and Melvin Zimmers, 28, all of Greensboro. They were given emergency treatment and sent to their homes.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

First Trans-Continental Railway—Part II. by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

BEFORE THE BUILDING OF A TRANS-CONTINENTAL RAILWAY, AN OVERLAND JOURNEY TO THE PACIFIC COAST FROM THE MISSISSIPPI MEANT MANY WEEKS OF TIRESOME TRAVEL EITHER ON HORSEBACK OR IN A CLUMSY "PRAIRIE SCHOONER".

TO REDUCE THE TIME REQUIRED TO CARRY THE MAIL BETWEEN THE MIDWEST AND THE PACIFIC, THE FAMOUS "PONY EXPRESS" HAD BEEN ESTABLISHED IN 1860.

TWO YEARS LATER, A LINE OF STAGE-COACHES WAS OPENED TO CARRY PASSENGERS AND BAGGAGE TO THE WEST COAST. THESE COACHES WERE DRIVEN BY SUCH DARING MEN AS THE FAMOUS "BUFFALO BILL" CODY.

THOSE WERE THE DAYS OF THE SO-CALLED "ROAD AGENTS", WHO FREQUENTLY HELD UP AND ROBBED THE STAGES, AND, BETWEEN THE DANGER OF THESE BANDITS AND OF ATTACK BY INDIANS, THE TRAVELER IN THE FAR WEST TOOK HIS LIFE IN HIS HANDS.

rectly whether he had been in Moline, Ill., checking a report that a person now there had been ready to identify Beach as a man he had seen near the scene of the crime on September 15. He laughed and answered:

"No, I was taking a little vacation, that's all."

"Where were you, then?"

"In Washington, D. C.," he said with a grin. He seemed to be elated about the trip, but annoyed at being asked if he had been in Moline.

The trial will start November 28, and preparations were already under way today which indicate that it will be the biggest of its kind in New Jersey since the Hall-Mills trial, and that the name of hitherto obscure little Mays Landing will soon be as familiar throughout the country as was the name of Somerville, N. J., a year ago.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Short covering and speculative buying of the active industrial stocks at the beginning of trading today resulted in moderate price gains in the steel, motor and specialty stocks. High-grade investment dividend-paying utilities also resumed their forward move, under the lead of A. T. and T. While further "demonstrations against the shorts" were made in Houston Oil and General Motors.

Though the shake-out of the last week or so has had its effect on the technical position of the market, the Wall Street commission houses broadcasted extreme conservatism in their market bulletins, advising sales on rallies instead of purchases on the dips. Each advance of the speculative leaders brought out a good volume of selling order, and the early gains of a point or two were promptly wiped out.

Except for the firm tone in Steel Common and General Motors, the steel and motor shares as a group were unable to maintain the pace set by the leaders in Monday's final period. Bethlehem Steel, Crucible, Youngstown, Studebaker, Chrysler and other well known market leaders declined to lower levels.

USES TWO GUNS TO MAKE SURE OF HIS DEATH

(International News Service)

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Oct. 11.—"I want to die too."

Scribbling this death note, George Phillips, 19, Hawkins County farmer, placed two revolvers at his breast and pulled the triggers, the bullets crossed each other's path through his body causing instant death.

The youth committed suicide after leaving the bier of his sweetheart, Hazel Fletcher, 14, who shot herself Saturday afternoon because of her love for him, leaving a note addressed to Phillips similar to the one he left.

Phillips asked that he be buried next to his sweetheart. Family objections to the courtship is said to have been the reason for the double-suicide.

morning to get under way within a few hours.

However weather outlook is far from perfect. The suspense of waiting had begun to tell on the fliers and they decided that further delay would be disastrous to their plans.

"It's now or never" Haldeman said grimly.

The words "Wheeling, U. S. A." are painted just below the name "American Girl," on the plane. In the interior of the cabin, suspended from the roof, are two pairs of sheepskin-lined flying boots, emergency rations for four days, searchlights, a hunting knife, and two fur-flined flying suits. Under her flying outfit Miss Elder will wear grey knickers, a plaid sweater and a white starched sport shirtwaist.

The rations consist of three and one half pounds of roast chicken, three thermos bottles filled with coffee, a fourth bottle filled with beef tea, eight turkey sandwiches, twelve swiss cheese sandwiches, half a dozen oranges and six chocolate bars. These, packed in a hamper, are to swing from the cabin roof during the journey.

The extra cans of gasoline are painted a bright red and each of them bears the name of Ruth Elder and George Haldeman. They will constitute a series of marks indicating the passage of the "American Girl."

At 11:30 a. m. with the aid of spectators, cameramen, county police and mechanics "The American Girl" was run up the mound. A light easterly breeze was blowing and everything pointed to excellent conditions for the take off.

The tanks held 275 gallons of gasoline when Captain Haldeman taxied the plane to the runway. A tank truck drew up alongside the mound and poured in 200 gallons more to fill the plane's tanks, giving a total of 475 gallons, sufficient, according to Captain Haldeman, to give the plane a cruising range of approximately 4,500 miles under normal conditions and perhaps 5,000 miles with helpful tail winds. With the gasoline, 20 and one half gallons of oil and the remainder of the useful load, the plane at take-off was to weigh 5,800 pounds.

At 11:40 a. m. police were roping off the sides of the runway to keep the crowds in check at the take-off.

At the same time Cardwell and his assistant, Roy Morehouse, temporarily removed the radio set from the plane and tested it on the ground, it functioned perfectly, Cardwell said.

Boulder Dam Issue Object Of Fight In Labor Convention

By ARTHUR L. MAREK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 11.—Lines were being tightly drawn today in the American Federation of Labor convention for the impending fight over the Boulder dam issue.

Determined opposition to any endorsement by organized labor of the Swing-Johnson bill for a government built dam in Boulder Canyon has provided the only controversy in an otherwise harmonious meeting, and a spirited clash is promised when the measure is brought before the convention.

The dispute centers on the resolution by State Senator Daniel C. Murphy of San Francisco pledging the support of organized labor to Colorado river development projects and favoring passage of the Swing-Johnson bill at the next session of Congress.

Despite efforts to sidetrack the issue, the Murphy resolution was expected to be reported out of committee today and opponents of the measure were ready to fight its adoption on the floor of the convention.

Leading the opposition forces is H. S. McCluskey, delegate from the Arizona Federation of Labor and recognized as the spokesman for Governor George W. P. Hunt of that state, a bitter foe of the Swing-Johnson bill.

McCluskey, who also is a member of the Arizona commission on Colorado river problems, hurried here from Phoenix yesterday to personally lead the fight against the measure in the labor conclave. He is joined by C. T. Francis, representing the Phoenix Central Labor Council.

The Boulder dam issue was injected into the meeting when United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson, champion of Colorado river development, called upon union labor to accept the challenge of a "seven billion dollar power trust" opposed to the project.

Predict More Dry Members Of Congress

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The Anti-Saloon League will use all its efforts, as in past presidential campaigns to secure election of a bone dry president in 1928, it was announced at headquarters today.

The national organization will spend $50,000 for purely political purposes. State leagues also will have political funds but the total will not be great, it was said. The Massachusettes league will spend about $75,000 in the referendum fight.

It costs about $1,000,000 a year in ordinary expenses to run the national and state leagues.

League officers predicted that the dry membership of congress would be increased in next year's elections.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

One of the reasons why this roaming round is interesting is because it is so diversified. One meets so many different kinds of people, whose ideas may be as wide apart as the poles and whose ratings in the social world would look like a ladder if put together.

Probably the peak of yesterday's meeting with people came at noon. Ex-Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh was in the city and one can understand why such a man would be elected to office after talking to him. A genial, kindly sort of man, who believes in what he is doing, and makes friends as he does it.

Titles mean so little after all, especially when they are the gift of a free people, and the wise man, while appreciating such an honor, remembers that after all he is no different after he gets it, than he was before. Such a man is Martin G. Brumbaugh.

He signed one bill as governor of this state, which had appended to it a protest, or apology or explanation or whatever. It was the bill providing for a two per cent tax on inheritances and in signing it he said, "I sign this bill under protest, and only because of the urgent need of revenues."

Speaking about it yesterday, Mr. Brumbaugh said, " the bill goes too far down. It hits the poor people too hard, and for that reason I did not want to sign it. However we had to have money for roads. Such a bill would be all right if it exempted the very small estates."

The Castleton provides an interesting roaming grounds these days. The hotel isn't finished, quite, but even in its present state it is a pretty thing. The Sabbath School convention folks are beginning to come in and Manager John Slack is just a trifle busier than a one armed man in a cafeteria.

There is one chap around The Castleton who refuses to worry over how busy he is. He is W. G. Chew who is furnishing the hotel rooms. Most of us, if we had that responsibility and some of the furniture had not come in would be worried a pale green. Not Chew. He was jovial when he came here, before he ever got the contract. He was jovial on the day he got it signed, and he is still smiling. When he sleeps is something else again but he always has time to stop and swap a story.

For the next couple of days the roaming will be around the Scottish Rite Cathedral, and some of you folks who want to know how busy one can get, come up. Covering a state convention is a lot of fun and at the same time a lot of work.

Wonder what has happened to Interviewing Al and his occasional contribution to this column. For the next few days the Colyum Conductor would be grateful to all and sundry for any additions to this particular section of this great family newspaper.
